HUNGER MARCHERS CONVERGING UPON LONDON

Signor Mussolini speaking during a fascist demonstration.

SICK MAN IN GENEVA

ITALY TO STAY AT BEDSIDE

INFLUENCE OF THE LEAGUE

Rome, Oct. 23.

The sensational stories circulated some few weeks back suggesting that Germany, Italy and Japan were all on the brink of tendering their resignations from the League of Nations were contradicted, as far as Italy is concerned, by Signor Mussolini to-day.

The Italian Prime Minister was addressing a crowd of one hundred and fifty thousand Fascists at a Turin celebration and he declared emphatically that Italy intends to remain in the League.

Mussolini expressed concern for the League. The League is so sick, he declared, that Italy must remain at the bedside!

EUROPEAN CO-OPERATION.

He expressed the opinion that while the League might wield some influence in Europe, it was powerless both in the Far East and in South America. For that reason, the four great Western Powers, Britain, Germany, France and Italy should co-operate.

Mussolini supported Germany's claim to parity in armaments and urged the wiping out of war debts and reparations.—Reuter.

MR. LOEW SAILS FOR JAPAN

NOT ALLOWED TO FLY
BY AUTHORITIES

Shanghai, Oct. 24.

A sensation has been created by the news that the Japanese authorities refused Mr. Arthur Loew and his companions flying the Spirit of Fun to fly to Japan.

In consequence, the party left for Japan by ship yesterday afternoon.

Before sailing, Mr. Loew revealed that efforts were made to secure a permit prior to the departure from New York. The action of the Japanese authorities slows down his flying schedule.—Reuter.

The wedding is to take place at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Melbourne, on Wednesday, of Mr. Stanley I. Hill, M.L.A., Royal Corps of Naval Construction, of the Hongkong Naval Yard, and Miss Amy Byrne, of Melbourne. The newly-wed couple intend to leave for Hongkong aboard the s.s. Nanking on November 1st.

BIG UNEMPLOYED CAMPAIGN

THOUSANDS IN MEANS TEST PROTEST

PICKETS ON HOUSE
OF COMMONS

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT).

LONDON OCT. 23.

UP IN ARMS AGAINST THE APPLICATION OF THE MEANS TEST, THOUSANDS OF UNEMPLOYED HUNGER MARCHERS IN MANY PARTIES ARE CONVERGING UPON LONDON FROM VARIOUS PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

They are taking a leaf out of the book of the unemployed and the Bonus Marchers in the United States and they propose to picket the House of Commons until their demands are granted.

Mr. George Lansbury, during the discussion following the Westminster riots, gave warning that serious trouble was to be feared unless the hunger marchers were greeted with the announcement that the Means Test would be revoked.

Communist agents, who have already provoked serious disturbances in London, Liverpool and Birkenhead, are expected to make full use of the opportunity now provided for further agitation.

SURPRISE RECEPTION AT OXFORD

None of the marching unemployed have yet arrived in London, but the first contingents are expected in the course of the next day or two. They are picketing up fresh adherents as they go along and their numbers are certain to be swelled when they arrive in London by sympathisers in the ranks of London's unemployed.

OXFORD'S SURPRISE.

No untoward incident has occurred in the course of the marches of the various parties. On the contrary, they have met with a sympathetic reception in most towns through which they have passed.

An Oxford to-day, for instance, when a party of 240 men, who had walked all the way from Lancashire, arrived they were greeted by a committee from the University undergraduates and, somewhat to their surprise, were not only hospitably received, but were encouraged in their enterprise.

MEAL AND CONCERT.

Undergraduates of both sexes participated in the reception. The marchers were taken to a specially prepared hall, served with a hot meal, the undergraduates themselves waiting at table upon the unemployed.

After the visitors had been refreshed, a fresh surprise was provided by a University concert entertainment.

Finally, the marchers were provided with blankets for protection against the increasingly cold nights—the marchers have frequently had to sleep out of doors—and two new red banners!

The affair greatly impressed the marchers and they continued their trek in high good spirits.

PREFERENCES IN SOUTH AFRICA

GERMAN TREATY
AMENDED

Pretoria, Oct. 23.

South Africa's commercial treaty with Germany, which caused much adverse comment when it was negotiated, is being amended as from to-morrow in order to permit the Union to grant preferences to goods from the British Empire and mandated territories which Germany will not enjoy.—Reuter.

The quarantine restrictions imposed by the Philippine Islands against arrivals from Hongkong on account of cholera have been removed.

The giant Fairey-Napier monoplane which has been specially designed for the R.A.F. attack on the world's long-distance nonstop record.

LAICHIKOK TRAGEDY

EUROPEAN WARDER
FOUND SHOT

OBVIOUS CASE OF

Another shooting tragedy at the Laichikok Prison was revealed this morning when the body of a warder, M. Friend, was found in the bath room at the rear of the Single Men's Quarters with a bullet wound in the right temple.

The discovery was made early this morning when the officer failed to appear for his breakfast prior to going on duty. A "boy" went to the bath room to call his master but received no response and when the door was opened Warder Friend was found lying on the floor dressed in white shorts and singlet, wearing a pair of slippers.

REVOLVER BY SIDE.

The officer's own service revolver was found lying by him and a bullet wound in his right temple indicated that he had committed suicide.

Warder Friend was a young man of 35 years of age and had been in the Prison Department for nearly six years.

It appears to be an obvious case of suicide, the second at Laichikok less than two months. Warder Michael Rooney was found dead in somewhat similar circumstances on September 7 last.

LAICHOW FIGHTING

WITHDRAWAL OF GEN. HAN'S
RESIGNATION SOUGHT

Peking, Oct. 24.

In spite of General Han Fuchu's resignation, which he ascribes to the realities of the situation, hostilities are still proceeding at Laichow.

ROBOT PLANE'S ATTACK ON RECORD

NONSTOP FLIGHT

R.A.F. TO START EARLY

CRACK FAIREY
MONOPLANE

(Our Own Correspondent).

London, Oct. 23.

Two spectacular flights from London to Capetown will take place early next month.

The Royal Air Force will attempt to wrest the long-distance nonstop flight record from the United States, while Mrs. Amy (Johnson) Mollison is reported to be preparing to eclipse her husband's record by flying the same machine that he used over the same difficult route down the west coast of Africa.

The greatest interest is, however, centred upon the Royal Air Force flight. This has been in project for nearly two years. First plans contemplated the attempt as far back as December last year, but for one reason or another, the start has been put off and put off until now.

LONG DELAY.

The long delay, of course, has merely meant that no tests or no experiments which would contribute to the certainty of success have been left unexplored.

Britain has been seeking the long-distance record for several years past and a machine, a Fairey monoplane, has been specially constructed with this sole end in view.

The determined attempt now being made threatens the record of John Polando, who flew from New York to within a few miles of Constantinople, a distance of over 5,000 miles.

PREVIOUS DISASTER.

Squadron-Leader Gayford and Flight Lieutenant Bott, who will have the handling of the Fairey monoplane, are hopeful of completing a flight of 6,000 miles.

The machine is almost identical with that used in 1929 in a previous attempt to reach Capetown by nonstop flight. That machine crashed in North Africa, striking a hillside in bad weather, both occupants being killed.

The new machine has a tremendous petrol-carrying capacity—about a thousand gallons—and it is fitted with a robot pilot, a device which will automatically fly the plane once the course has been set. This device will relieve the two airmen of a considerable amount of routine during the long flight, which may occupy about fifty hours.

Britain did once hold the long—

BITTER FIGHT ON GUNBOAT

NONNI RIVER CRAFT
ATTACKED

ENCOUNTER

BOTH SIDES

Shanghai, Oct. 24.

Graphic details of a spectacular attempt to capture a Manchukuo gunboat and of fierce hand-to-hand fighting aboard the craft have been received from Changchun.

The gunboat concerned was the Lichi which was cruising in the upper reaches of the Nonni River on patrol duty watching for any movement of anti-Manchukuo forces.

The last thing expected aboard the gunboat was an attack from the water, but it suddenly found itself surrounded by dozens of small native craft, loaded with a band of anti-Manchukuo Volunteers (whom Japanese reports describe as bandits) who succeeded in boarding the gunboat despite the heavy fire poured into the small craft from the larger craft.

RAIDERS SWARM ABOARD.

The raiders swarmed aboard from a dozen different points, clambering up the sides and engaging those aboard in a furious hand-to-hand encounter.

The raiders had suffered many losses in the initial onslaught and during the actual boarding of the Lichi, with the result that the sailors gradually obtained the upper hand and eventually compelled the invaders to withdraw.

They did not, however, retire without inflicting heavy casualties among the crew of the Lichi. Two officers and three ratings were killed outright and many others were wounded.

HASTY WITHDRAWAL.

When finally the signal for withdrawal was given, the anti-Manchukuo Volunteers jumped into their small boats and hastily paddled away from the scene.

The gunboat poured a destructive hail of fire into their midst causing many casualties.—Reuter.

ALEKO LILIUS "WANTED"

WARREST ISSUED FOR ARREST

Manila, Oct. 21.

Aleko E. Lilius, journalist-adventurer, is charged with false pretences in a criminal complaint which was filed yesterday afternoon with the Court of First Instance by F. B. Albert, fifth assistant fiscal.

Lilius, who first came into Philippine limelight about three years ago when he arrived with stories of his adventures with Chinese pirates in Bias Bay, has appeared extensively in the public print lately for his attempts to lasso Glenn W. Brophy, lost American aviator, who was supposed to be living in Yam Island.

In the complaint filed against him yesterday, he was accused of having swindled Robert L. Hobbs, owner of the Luneta Hotel, out of P800,000.00, by paying Hobbs with invalid cheques and by cashing other cheques, with no funds on deposit. A warrant for his arrest was issued yesterday afternoon and this warrant may be turned over to the secret service to-day for the apprehension of Lilius.

Lilius has not yet returned to Manila from his trip to Yam Island where he went in quest of Brophy, aviator who was lost while attempting to fly from Manila to Japan. It is believed he is still in Yam Island.

BIG FIGHTS IN SHANGHAI

BRITISH SUCCESSES

Shanghai, Oct. 23.

A. B. Farrar, of H.M.S. Hermes, won easily on points against Pape, of U. S. S. Houston, for the featherweight championship of the U.S. Asiatic Fleet.

Jack Croighton, late R.N., defeated Babe Russ on points.—Naval Wireless.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

The American Individual Masters' Tournament vividly brought home the fact that the one-over-one system is destined to become the standardised system of contract bridge bidding.

In this tournament, practically no other system than the one over one in its entirety was used. It is true that other systems employ the one bid from which this system gets its name, but experienced tournament players realize the many advantages this system has to offer.

One of the points where it differs from other systems is that in order to open the bidding first or second hand you must definitely have a re-bid. In third position, a player is allowed to use his judgment in opening the bidding—it may be with an extremely weak hand or with a strong one. A fourth hand bid requires about two and one-half quick tricks and support for the majors.

The following unusually interesting hand was played in the first session. The bidding at all but one table was South pass, West pass, North one diamond, East one heart.

South passed—even though he held two aces—due to the fact that his partner had made a third hand bid, which might be very weak, West passed.

North then bid two clubs. The showing of a second suit assured South that partner held a real hand. East passed and South then bid two spades which North carried to four.

The Play.

The opening lead in every case was the four of hearts, which was won by South, the declarer, with the ace. He immediately led the ten of clubs and here is where the interesting point came in.

If East wins the first club trick with the king, there is no possible way of stopping the declarer from making six odd. Some players made the mistake of taking the king of clubs.

Where East refused to take the king of clubs, it takes skillful play on the part of the declarer to make six odd. The hand must be played as follows:

The ace of diamonds and then the king of diamonds in dummy must be cashed. The ace and king of trump are led from dummy and the declarer gets a fortunate break when the queen and jack fall from the East hand.

His next play is a small diamond. East shows out, dropping a heart, and the declarer trumps and then leads the three of hearts, tramping in dummy with the ten of spades.

A small diamond is then returned and trumped by declarer with the eight of spades. He leads the nine of spades, picking up West's seven, discarding the jack of clubs from dummy. East must now drop the ten of hearts.

Declarer then leads the seven of clubs, winning in dummy with the ace. He leads the ten of diamonds and East is forced to discard his king of hearts so as to win his only trick with the king of clubs.

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN HALL, an expert for cattle in the city, Asper DeLo in his office in the city. Asper is accused by the cattle men of inflicting on their range with his timber cutting. Hall accuses DeLo of crooked work at his Three Rivers camp. He accuses DeLo of having men shot who try to check up on him. Hall says he is going to make a check himself. DeLo retorts that he will personally see that Hall does not.

Standing before the office building Stan Hall sees kidnapers slip a girl into a car. He catches the car and saves DONA DELO, Asper's daughter. When he learns who she is he slips away after telling her he is STANLEY BLACK.

DUDLEY WINTERS, in love with Dona, agrees to get Asper DeLo back off his wild trip to Three Rivers if she will marry him. She gives him some encouragement.

CHAPTER III

Dona applied the brakes and pulled her trim roadster to a halt at the curb before a spacious apartment house. Without giving the early hour a thought she sent a raucous blast of the horn echoing through the mules that shaded the lower floors. She had only to signal once. A figure staggering under a load of khaki and leather appeared from the main entrance and moved down the walk. The pile of equipment reached the curb. There it erupted and Dudley Winters rose from its midst. He removed a soft felt hat and bowed.

"At your service, lady."

"What on earth have you there?" Dona gasped as she pointed a gloved finger toward the assortment scattered around Dudley.

"A sleeping bag, two guns, three fish rods, a camp outfit, two water bags, a collapsible canoe and several lesser items," Dudley surveyed the outfit proudly.

"And a bag of golf clubs?" Dona burst out laughing as she looked over the assortment.

"They aren't so uncivilized as to be without at least a nine hole course, are they?" Dudley grinned sheepishly.

"You can't take any of that junk," Dona was positive.

"But my friend Herman at the outfitters recommended this as the minimum of equipment," Dudley had enjoyed the selection of that outfit and was willing to defend it.

"Herman made you pay well for routing him out of bed last night. All you need is the outing clothes you're wearing and a suit case with a change of necessary things. You can get all the outdoor equipment you need at Three Rivers. Now hustle that stuff back and pack a few clothes." Dona was more than a little vexed now that she was over being amused.

Dudley sensed his mistake and gathered up his new possessions. He stowed the stuff away and came back on the run. Leaping over the door of the roadster, he slid into place beside Dona.

The car shot away from the curb and sped down the avenue. Dudley leaned back to drink in the fresh morning air. "Boy, it's great to be out and zipping along! Never know the mornings were so bracing," he shouted.

"You haven't seen the sun come up for a good many summers," Dona shouted back.

Dudley grinned and sank deep into the soft cushions. He was excited and willing to admit it. The mission they were on did not impress him as very serious. At first he had been impressed but after spending a night preparing for the trip he had discounted the danger. He fished for a cigarette and ducked his head low to light it.

Dona gave her attention to the road. She was an excellent driver though her slender shoulders seemed almost frail behind the big wheel. Her thoughts were not with Dudley. She was wondering if Stanley Black would call while she was away. Try as she would she could not put him out of her mind entirely. She was sure he was just another lonesome rider who had come into her life and gone on. She had known many such before her father had moved to the city but none had been so striking as Stanley Black. She had never felt any loss when they had ridden away.

The sun came up and the roads began to twist into the hills. Patches of purple sage showed among the bunch grass and far to the west a blue range of mountains marked the timber country. Dona set to wondering where Stanley Black rode and for what outfit. She knew that all the cow ranches had their men in the high country where their white faces were grazing in the forest reserve. Several outfits ran cattle near the timber grant on Three Rivers. There was the Bar B and the Blind River Outfit. Dudley broke into her reverie by demanding that they stop at a lunch room for coffee and rolls.

Noon found them speeding into a foothills village where they had lunch. The stop was only a half hour and then they were off again. Dudley had rolled down his sleeves but not before his arms had burned to a fiery red. He was still in a spirited mood whistling snatches of new songs into the teeth of the brisk wind.

By four o'clock they were deep into the broken country. The hills looked dry and hot but the valleys were green with irrigated ranches. Dona knew the road and did not have to ask at any of the cross-roads for information. The yellow dust had darkened their clothes and smudged their warm faces. Dudley had developed two little streaks from each side of his nose to the corners of his mouth and his hat was already taking on the appearance of a westerner's. Not once before in the three months since he had packed up and followed her home from school in the east had she seen him with so much as a smudge of dirt on his face.

Sundown found the dusty roadster pulling up beside a spacious log hotel. At the side and back of the building high corrals ranged and lean canyons gazed sleepily out at the newcomers. Dona sighed peacefully and leaned back against the cushions. She was returning to her own and she liked it. In that moment she wondered why she wished to live in even a western city when she could have the outdoors for her own.

"Do we park here or do we unload?" Dudley pulled himself up stiffly and surveyed the scene. "And in this a hotel or a barn? The signs say it's a hotel but my nose says it's a barn." His grin was broad. "This is Seth Doby's place and we'll camp here tonight," Dona pressed the horn and began dusting herself off.

A giant man of great height appeared in the doorway and clumped down the worn steps on badly run-over riding boots. His gray hair stood up in an unruly whirl and his beard was long and unkempt with suspicious streaks of brown in it. He wore a blouse of denim and faded overalls.

"Howdy, strangers. Want to hitch and come in?" He smiled and his watery blue eyes twinkled.

"We are stopping with you tonight," Dona answered with a returning smile.

"Yes and eating, too," Dudley grinned.

Seth Doby carried their suitcases inside and deposited them in a ground floor room. He returned and motioned to a curl-corned register. "Slap your name and your wife's in the book while I yep for supper."

"We wish two rooms," Dona hastened to explain.

Old Seth grinned. "Right. Well, just sign up." Without further ado he recovered Dudley's suitcase and took it to another room.

Dona went to her room at once. She was soon splashing in a washpan of cool water and preparing to slip into a fresh dress. Outside the door she could hear Dudley demanding a bath.

"Ain't no such animal in this hotel," Seth Doby's voice boomed. "Where you headed for, stranger? There ain't no baths out in this dry country."

"I'm trailing a man named Asper DeLo. Has he been through here recently?" Dudley asked.

"Old Swede DeLo? Sure. Stayed here a couple of nights ago. Say, boy, I've known Swede DeLo for 30 years. Him and me had the dag-habest fight two humans ever had. Swede put me down for the count, too." Seth Doby laughed loudly.

Dona knew Doby did not recognize her as the freckled girl with the pigtail braid who used to ride with old Swede DeLo. Eastern finishing school had erased the marks of the range too thoroughly. As she stepped to the door Doby had his back toward her and he was absorbed in telling Dudley about Swede DeLo.

"Don't you make no mistake about that man, DeLo! He was the maddest I've ever seen him. Lowed as how he had been sittin' in an office until bow-legged cow hands thought they could come in and spit in his face. I figure he sure aims to beg himself a meddler, or I don't know Swede DeLo." Doby stroked his beard.

"Is he that bad?" Dudley asked seriously.

"Swede DeLo made his stake by fighting rustlers, lumberjacks and log jacks. He's hellion when he gets his ire up and he sure had it up when he went through here. I had a time getting him to bed down overnight with us."

Dona stepped forward and spoke smilingly. "Run along and wash up, Dad, while I talk to Mr. Doby."

Seth Doby looked sharply at the girl, then scratched his shaggy head. "You know me and I should know you, but I don't."

"I'm Dona DeLo, Pigtail D." Dona's white teeth shone.

"Well, dagnab it! Sure you are!" Doby held out a knotty hand.

"Is Dad really on one of his benders?" Dona's blue eyes were troubled and her smile had faded.

Doby shook his head. "He sure is and I believe the old fool is getting a whackin' kick out of it. I tried to knock some sense into his head. Warned him plenty."

"You think he might be in danger?" Dona could not conceal her fear.

"He's in for a tough time. I know the man he aims to get." Doby's face sobered.

"Can't you go up with us?" Dona caught the old man's arm. "You used to be able to handle Dad."

Doby shook his head. "I'd do anything for you in remembrance of the days when you was Pigtail, though the city has shore taken the range scrub out of you, but this time I can't."

"Why?" Dona looked the old rancher in the eye evenly.

"Well, I don't figure Swede DeLo has lined out just right this time and I told him so."

Dona nodded and her tone was cooler though her smile was wide. "But you will feed us with the same kind of steak you used to cook?"

"Sure! And I'll lend a hand, too, if I can." Seth Doby's honest face showed embarrassment and pain as he turned to the little dining room.

Publication of the Lytton Report in Japan. Photo shows men about to leave the Foreign Office to distribute copies to Cabinet Ministers and other leading officials.

This picture shows how the Report was kept in Tokyo prior to the authorized date of issue. Mr. Green, First Secretary to the British Embassy, is shown handing over a locked trunk containing the official copy to Mr. Arita, Vice-Minister for Foreign Affairs.

Mrs. Kaye Don, formerly Miss Eileen Martin, is seen at her American home, which she left to join her bridegroom in Paris and Switzerland for the honeymoon.

To commemorate the 250th anniversary of William Penn's migration to America, the Penn Club and Friends' Historical Society visited scenes of his life in England. The pilgrims are seen here as they view the Great Quaker's former home at Rickmansworth, Hertfordshire.

Translators at work in the Japanese Foreign Office engaged in the task of translating the Lytton Report into Japanese.

Protect your child against PYORRHEA

10, 20, 30 years from now he will thank you

PYORRHEA, the dreaded mouth disease, is ugly, insidious, yet often invisible. 10 or even 20 years from now your son may not be the healthy man you think he will be. He may be the victim of pyorrhea, . . . unhealthy and unhappy. 30 years from now he may be broken down and a failure.

Help your children now to be strong and sturdy in later life. Teach them to protect (not neglect). Morning and night, have them brush their teeth with Forhan's for the Gums. It will not only keep their teeth clean and white, insure healthy mouths, but also, prevent thread pyorrhea.

Forhan's for the Gums is so fine, so pure, so gentle and mild, it cannot harm the most delicate tooth enamel of the youngest child.

Forhan's for the Gums is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., specialist in mouth diseases. It contains the "Pyurine" Antiseptic developed by Dr. Forhan and used by dentists throughout the world in the treatment of pyorrhea.

INCOGNITOS ON TOP

Rahma Khan scored twice for the Indians and Abdul Jalil once. The scorers for St. Andrew's were E. F. Fincher (2) and A. E. P. Guest.

Hongkong Ladies' League

By the odd goal in seven St. Andrew's Ladies defeated Hongkong Ladies in a scrappy game on Saturday. The winners were without two players throughout the game and the Hongkong Ladies lost the services of Miss E. M. Gray, who was struck over the eye by a ball from the stick of Miss M. Woolley, and Miss B. M. Pope who was also injured. The scorers for St. Andrew's were Miss M. Woolley (2), Miss P. Gittins and Miss M. Chan, and Miss M. P. Harrop (2) and Miss A. G. Orme replied for the losers.

Win For Mule Corps
 Some good hockey was the result of the meeting between the R.A.S.C. and the Hongkong Mule Corps on the Marina Ground on Saturday, when the Mule Corps won by two goals to nil. The first half saw a great deal of open play, but the teams managed, despite this, to combine effectively. The R.A.S.C. were unfortunate in losing the services of Tiptle their centre-forward in the second half when he had to retire after being hit in the face by a ball. This was a decided handicap to the losers and soon afterwards Atta Mohamed opened the scoring for the Mule Corps from the left and Capt. H. E. Eves increased their lead before the end.

Another Loss For German
 The German Club suffered yet another defeat when they went under to the Y.M.C.A. by six goals to one. The interval score was 2-1 in favour of the winners. For the "Y" goals were netted by W. J. Brown (3), Fowler (2) and R. Baldwin. Lange replied for the Germans.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

If you want to make sure that you are going to see the mark give your shoes a second glance. The space just under the heel of these new brown kid shoes contains a long point of brown kid, set in to give added height and grace to the heel. The slippers, worn with a brown frock that features great white cuffs and a white collar, are decidedly attractive.

TO-DAY'S RECIPES.

Seasonable Sweets.

Fruit Sundae.

These can be made with any fresh fruit in season. Use 1lb. fruit to 1/2lb. castor sugar.

Prepare fruit, place alternate layers of fruit and sugar into a deep bowl; leave to stand overnight, so that the sugar will have formed into syrup.

Take some vanilla ice cream, place in a glass, then add a tablespoonful of the fruit and syrup and top with fresh whipped cream.

Tinned fruit will also answer the same purpose.

Melon Sherbet.

Half lb. of sugar, the juice of two lemons, the whites of two eggs 1/2 pint of melon juice, one pint of water, a small quantity of gelatine.

Boil the water with the sugar, then add the gelatine, melted in cold water, the lemon juice, melon juice, and the beaten whites of the eggs. Whisk all together and serve cold.

Red Currant Mould.

Pick and wash about 1/2lb. red currants, and sugar and cook well; when done strain through muslin. Mix a tablespoonful of cornflour into a paste with cold water; boil up juice, pour on to the cornflour, stir well. This will make a delicious sweet, containing all the goodness and flavour of the currants without the pits or skins. Serve with whipped cream.

Apple and Lemon Jelly.

Peel, core and quarter one pound of sound apples. Make a syrup with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, put in apples and simmer until soft, but not broken. Have a pint jelly made and partly set. When apples are cold, dust over with desiccated coconut and arrange in a glass dish. Now pour the partly-set jelly over and leave to set. Sprinkle the top lightly with the coconut before serving.

Compote of Apples.

Peel a pound of apples, cut in quarters and add them to a syrup made by melting a cup of sugar in half a cup of water. Add the rind of a lemon and a tablespoonful of rum. When cooked, lift the pieces of apple out, arrange in a silver dish and cover them with some finely-chopped candied peel. Pour the syrup round, add more rum if desired.

Apple Mousse.

Stew some apples in a very little water until tender, then pass through a sieve. Whisk after adding powdered sugar to taste. Allow the whites of three eggs for every six apples and whisk these; when stiff fold them into the puree, add lemon flavouring. Pile in a deep dish and serve with sponge fingers.

Fried Apples.

Peel and core some large apples and cut them into thick slices. Make a mixture of an ounce of butter, three ounces of sugar and the juice and grated rind of a lemon and fry the apples in it until tender. Garnish the slices with dabs of currant jelly or some preserved cherries and pour the frying mixture round.

COCO-NUT PYRAMIDS

Half a pound of desiccated coconut, 1 1/2 oz. of cornflour, 4 ozs. of castor sugar, 3 whites of eggs.

Line a baking tin with a sheet of kitchen paper, and on this place a sheet of wafer or rice paper. Sieve the cornflour into a basin, add the sugar and coco-nut, beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, and mix this carefully with the cornflour mixture, kneading it if necessary.

Put the mixture in little pyramid shapes on the wafer paper about half an inch apart, and bake in slow oven from ten to fifteen minutes or until pale brown.

UNUSUAL TENNIS JUMPER.

A blue knitted jumper for tennis wear has the deep "V" neck treated in a novel manner. A number of strands of blue and white wool are plaited together and down round the edge of the neck, giving the appearance of one of the popular plaited necklaces worn with a jumper.

SEEN AT THE PARIS DRESS SHOWS.

Backless pyjama-top blouse, made of wool but all frilly and fanciful, worn with tweed sports suits.

Wide stripes in graduating shades of red and brown used for three-quarters of a skirt, with the rest in dark brown to match the hips and the back of the bodice, the front of which was in an off-white crepe.

Two or three different materials in a single suit, also parti-coloured effects. Jumpers divided into quarters of different colours, like heraldic designs.

Many of the long coats have fur tops to the waist, or fur sleeves, and round shawl collars with loose ends buttoned over.

Hats seen in one collection have been inspired by mediaeval pictures. They are worn straight on the head, hiding the forehead, and include small, flat caps which look like mediaeval berets, hats suggestive of the Robin Hood shape, and hats with turned-up brims and metal trimmings.

Round Peter Pan collars of fur on coats. Now ermine plush used for short-sleeved jumpers worn under long coats.

A sports coat with sleeves cut on raglan lines, fastening at the neck and falling full and loose, is shown in several houses.

Hanks of plain knitting wool used for trimming. For instance, suit of black woollen material with a twisted hank of yellow wool as neckband.

Necklet of three twisted bands of differently coloured jerseys, fastened at the side with a large metal clasp, worn with tweeds. Ruffle collars of chenille loops trim some afternoon frocks.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1932.

HONGKONG AS A WINTER RESORT

A point which must have often occurred to many residents of Hongkong is why no well-organised effort is made to popularise this Colony as a winter resort. We have now reached the season of the year in which we can look forward to at least four months of really delightful weather—a climate which is probably not bettered in any part of the world. We who live in the Colony know this fact, and, thanks to a certain measure of private enterprise, such as that conducted by the Hongkong and Shanghai Hotels, Ltd. in respect of Repulse Bay, the news has been spread abroad to other parts of the Far East. But beyond this, except for the reports taken away by individual visitors to our shores, there is no channel for letting the outside world know the charms and attractions of Hongkong in the winter season.

A resident of many years' standing, in conversing on this subject recently, expressed the view that Hongkong is far behind the times in failing to make some organised effort to attract more visitors to the Colony in the cool season of the year. For example, there is Malaya, not many days' journey distant, where the problem of getting away for a change from the over-present heat must always be cropping up. In these hard times, especially, people of the Straits Settlements and the F.M.S. who cannot afford to take Home leave might be easily persuaded to visit Hongkong if the fact were more widely known that the winter climate here is so delightful and that there are all manner of attractions to be found in the Colony, to say nothing of its magnificent scenic beauties. The gentleman we are quoting thinks that we might even go much further than that and, by judicious propaganda, endeavour to induce some of the wealthy people from Home, who make yearly trips to the Continent, Egypt, and India, to set a new fashion by coming out to Hongkong. He points out that, apart from the novelty of seeing the East, there is the additional attraction of excellent yachting, ample bathing facilities (the water seldom being colder here in the winter than it is in the summer in the Old Country), to say nothing of the wonderful golf course at Fanling, and outdoor sporting facilities generally. The further argument is put forward that the security enjoyed under the British flag in Hongkong, in contrast to conditions in some other parts of the East, is in itself a further reason why Hongkong should come in for consideration by those who can afford to go abroad in order to escape the rigours of the English winter. There is, of course, no lack of travel services, either by way of Canada or Suez, and when the day comes, as it must, in which air services are made available, this Colony will be brought appreciably nearer to the Old Country.

Opinions may differ as to the prospects of inducing any considerable number of people to visit Hongkong from Home until aviation facilities are available, but there can be no questioning the wisdom of doing a little propaganda work in Malaya and the Far East generally. Individual visitors to this Colony are often amazed at the beauty of the place and its magnificent winter climate. These are assets which have never been adequately advertised. Yet in England we find municipalities setting aside regular sums every year for the purpose of attracting visitors to seaside and other resorts. If the Government here, in conjunction with some body such as the Chamber of Commerce, or even the various shipping lines, were to follow this lead, there is no doubt that Hongkong would in course of time become an extremely popular winter resort. People who come here would, of course, spend money, and this would be all to the good of the Colony. Is it too much to hope that some public-spirited individual or group of individuals will take this matter up, with a view to seeing what can be done?

The Great Egg Mystery.

Periodically, but not more than once in each epoch, a problem is propounded of such philosophic depth, of such far-reaching and unforeseeable consequences to humanity, that the world's greatest intellects feel irresistibly impelled to devote all their powers to its solution. In the morning of the world, it will be remembered, the question of Achilles and the tortoise was such a problem; in the later renaissance a similar speculation was provided by the mystery of the Mona Lisa's smile. Then it seemed the world lost its capacity for philosophic cogitation on matters as high as these. At any rate, no problem comparable with these earlier ones has been devised for many years past. But now happily this reproach is taken away from us. Once more on the philosophic plane we can look our ancestors in the face. It has now been proved beyond all dispute that the twentieth century can question the universe as profoundly as any of its predecessors. A correspondent of a famous newspaper has inquired why, when a cricket batsman fails to score, he is invariably described as having got a duck's egg. Why not, for example (and here perhaps a note of pathos is sound-

DAY BY DAY

BETTER A MAN WITHOUT RICHES THAN RICHES WITHOUT A MAN.—Tennyson.

The Empress of Asia is due here from Shanghai at 7 a.m. on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Goldsmith are returning to Hongkong by the Empress of Japan, due here on December 9th.

In the estate of the late Mr. Rafael Echegoyen, merchant, late of Manila, who died intestate on November 9th, 1931, letters of administration have been granted to Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, solicitor, for the use and benefit of the widow, Mrs. Maria Cavanna de Echegoyen.

The weddings will take place shortly between Mr. Patrick Scully, ship's officer, of 3, Li Chik Street, Wanchai, and Miss Sin Pat, of the same address; and Dr. Frank James Farr, medical practitioner, of Police Bungalow, Taiipo, and Miss Dorothy Tyrell, of the Peninsula Hotel.

Our Shamen correspondent writes: The "Shootie-Bird Men" on Shamen must be having a pretty splendid time just now, judging from some of the bags one hears about. Bob Hill and one or two others, I hear, have found some particularly good spots where the birds are plentiful. Some of us would be glad to see the road opened up between here and Hongkong so that we could make quick trips down into the New Territories where, I understand, the snipe are very plentiful at this time.

ed), why not a hen's egg? Some people may be inclined to doubt whether the correspondent in question is justified, at the present time, in placing such a problem before the world. Admitting to the full its intellectual fascination, they may point out that that is precisely why it should not have been broached. Of course, statesmen and philosophers must discuss these pressing problems of reparations, war debts, conventions and conversions. But who can expect them to go on bothering about things like these now that there has been started a problem which involves in such equal and admirable measure sport, ornithology, philosophy and gastronomy? Nevertheless, we think that the question may be allowed. It is not as though our inquirer had rushed before the world with his problem without taking steps to solve it on his own account. Far from it. He declares that he has searched the Encyclopaedia Britannica for enlightenment, but without result. It is irrational that the egg of a duck should be a term of opprobrium. Western civilisation has held the duck in high honour. One of Europe's greatest dramatists, if titles may be trusted, wrote a play about it. Its name is often a term of endearment. Or it may be a warning. Certainly the duck has contributed much to modern living, and is emphatically the sort of bird that should egg a man on to a century at the wicket, rather than in any way be connected with failure.

DISARMING IS THE STATESMEN'S JOB

By Field-Marshal Sir W. R. ROBERTSON

ALTHOUGH the wish to escape from the burdens and dangers involved by the maintenance of great armaments was never so universal as it is to-day, any common agreement designed to give substantial effect to this wish must obviously be difficult to reach so long as the nations continue to regard each other as potential enemies rather than as effective friends whose interests are intimately and irrevocably bound up with their own.

Thanks to the closer intercourse of recent years, a more sensible and up-to-date spirit is gradually becoming manifest, but, being hampered by tradition and the jealousies and animosities left behind by the last war, its growth is bound to be slow.

Seven Last Years.

Still, after making every allowance for these adverse conditions, we are surely entitled to be given something more encouraging than that provided in the "Resolution" adopted by the General Commission of the Disarmament Conference on July 23 last. This document winds up the first phase of the Conference which was called into being seven months ago for the purpose of considering the Report of the "Preparatory Commission" on Disarmament, which, in its turn, was set up as far back as 1925.

The "Resolution" therefore represents the results of seven years' investigation and discussion, and as such it can only be described as profoundly disappointing. In wording it is so abstruse that to most people it must be quite incomprehensible, and even those who have the patience to extract its terms from the mass of verbiage in which they are embedded will find them so indefinite as, practically, to commit nobody to anything. This at least is the case with respect to Land Armaments, with which the following observations are mainly intended to deal.

Excellent Principles.

The "Conclusions" contain some laudable recommendations with regard to Aerial and Chemical Warfare, but they are silent about Naval Armaments and contain nothing about Land Armaments, with the solitary exception of Heavy Artillery and Tanks. The former is to be limited both in number and calibre, but the limits are not given, and Tanks are to be limited to a maximum weight, but this again is not specified, and therefore the provisions are at present of no value.

Personally, I would place the weight limit of the Tanks as low as possible—that is, draw the line at the point where there is little to distinguish between Tanks properly so-called and the various vehicles which have some resemblance to Tanks but do not possess the same offensive qualities, such as Armoured Cars and Tractors.

Referring to the next or second phase of the Conference, the "Resolution" states that "A strict limitation and a real reduction of effectives shall be brought about." This sounds very hopeful, but it entirely conceals the fact that this very thorny question, which always excites the most violent jealousies and mutual recriminations, has already been discussed at great length by a special Committee, which was eventually compelled to abandon its task because of the heated disagreements produced.

Finally, a limitation is to be put upon National Defence Expenditure, and a committee is to be appointed to study the regulations applied to the manufacture of and traffic in Armaments—both being subjects of a highly controversial kind and at present quite unsettled.

This completes, so far as land forces are concerned, the amount of progress made since the League of Nations formally declared, some 13 years ago, that the maintenance of peace requires "the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety."

Some excellent principles are repeated in the "Resolution," but there is not a single figure or other definite criterion to mark a concrete step forward in the desired direction of all-round disarmament. This absence of any indication as to the actual restrictions to be imposed is the more important because during the negotiation it was quite evident that some nations still obstinately insist upon limitation being placed at much too high a level to meet the object in view. Qualitative disarmament, or the attempt to decide what weapons are offensive—i.e., aggressive—and what defensive, is difficult enough in all conscience, and in many directions, is quite impracticable. Unless the restrictions imposed by it are sufficiently drastic, the whole idea becomes a farce.

It is time that there was some plain speaking on this matter.

Moreover, an impression prevails in certain quarters that the present Conference can confine its activities to Qualitative measures alone, leaving Quantitative limitation to some subsequent Conference. America, Germany, Italy, and many other countries have, however, plainly shown that they will not accept conclusions which do not comprise a measure of Quantitative disarmament also, and if nothing is done in this respect, more especially with regard to the limitation of effectives, there is no doubt that the Conference will be adjudged, and quite rightly, to have failed.

Not For The Soldier

During the next few months the "Bureau" of the Conference is to produce limitation figures for guns and tanks, and provide a scheme for limiting effectives. We must hope that this task will not be left entirely to departmental officials and military experts. That expedient has been tried already and it failed, ignominiously, not through any fault of the experts themselves, but because the questions put before them were fundamentally political in character and required to be dealt with by fully accredited political delegates. No real progress can be expected until there is a clearer recognition in practice that disarmament is essentially a political—and not a technical—problem.

British Government's Chance.

Herein lies a great opportunity for our own Government, but the extent to which it will be utilised will, as in all such cases, largely depend upon the amount of pressure exerted by public opinion, of which, after all, Cabinet Ministers are but the mouthpieces. The majority of men and women in this country have not yet quite appreciated the gravity of the issues which are at stake, and until they cast aside some of their indifference and display a keener interest in what is taking place, it is unlikely that their political representatives at Geneva will speak with that firmness and conviction which the situation requires.

DANGEROUS CRIMINAL LOOSE IN OUR MIDST

Strong efforts will be made by the Police in Hongkong this year to apprehend one of the most desperate criminals to yet visit this Colony.

CANTON CENSUS
QUERIESSHAMEEN THINKS SOME IRRELEVANT

Shameen, Oct. 23.

Foreign residents of Shameen have been circumscribed by their respective Consuls to fill in the Chinese Municipal Government's Census form for 1932. This is the first time to my knowledge that Europeans have been requested by their Consuls to fill in these forms, since heretofore the Shameen Municipal Council has published the generalised statistics in their annual report to the ratepayers.

Some of the questions, such as the following, are quite beside the point, and one cannot see what purpose they can serve the Chinese Government.—Particulars as to marriage, education, religion, physical condition, etc. Were these forms for Europeans living in the interior it might be possible a different matter, but such detailed questions relating to European living in the British Concession strike some of us as being entirely unnecessary.—Our Own Correspondent.

CHAN MING-SHU FOR EUROPEPASSES THROUGH COLONY

To avoid publicity, and travelling incognito, General Chan Ming-shu, former Canton Military Governor and Minister of Communications of the Nanking Government, arrived quietly last night on the s.s. Coblenz from Shanghai and left this morning on the same boat for Manila and Germany.

The former Canton Governor was prominent in his organisation of the Shanghai defence as head of the Nineteenth Route Army early this year, and for this reason he travels incognito to avoid the numerous invitations from Chinese residents in the coastal ports.

Associates of the General in Hongkong state that his visit to Europe is for the purposes of a holiday and therefore has no political significance.

distance record—for a few hours. An attempt to reach India in 1927 ended by the plane coming down in the Persian Gulf. But it established a new distance record, only to have it broken a few hours later when Colonel Charles Lindbergh landed in Paris after his epoch-making flight across the Atlantic.

NEARLY THERE.

Later, the first Fairey monoplane was within sight of a record on a flight to India. After passing Karachi, however, it ran into bad weather, was running short of petrol and the pilots turned back, the additional mileage covered not being allowed to count for the record. Had they been able to continue forward for another hour, they would have established a record.

Squadron Leader Gayford and Lieut. Belt are now thoroughly conversant with their machine and are coolly confident of success. They hope to start early next month.

Idaho Falls, Oct. 19. Expressing himself again in favour of early Philippine independence, Senator William E. Borah exclaimed here to-night that he "wished to God Dewey had never sailed into Manila Bay."

The Idaho Independent Republican, who is chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, discussed the question in reply to questions from the audience at a small informal gathering here. Earlier in the day he spoke at Sholley.

"Regardless of who gets the Philippines in the future I am willing for the United States to part company with them," said Borah. "I want to turn the Islands loose as soon as I can do it."

London, Oct. 22. The Arsenal outstripped Liverpool by three goals to two at Anfield Road ground, C. S. Bastin scoring two goals in the first ten minutes.

Rough play characterised the match between Bradford and Chesterfield at Park Avenue ground, where the hosts won by five goals to one. Two of the visiting players and one of the Yorkshire men had their names taken by the referee.

A. Masale, the Heart of Midlothian half-back, will not be able to play for Scotland against Wales on Wednesday owing to being injured in the match against the Glasgow Rangers.

Burnley made a remarkable rally in their match against Fulham. After being down three goals to all they shared the two points by scoring three goals in the last quarter of an hour.

J. H. Round of Port Vale was injured in the first fifteen minutes.

Leicester's inside right, E. Keeley, was injured in the second half of their match against Everton, who drew level in the last five minutes of the match.—Our Own Correspondent.

The high reputations earned by John and Lionel Barrymore lose nothing in the remarkably clever crook drama, "Arsene Lupin," now showing at the Queen's Theatre. Arsene Lupin is the French Raffles, played by John Barrymore, and the part of the detective out to "get him" is in the hands of Lionel. Highly dramatic and some exceedingly humorous situations are well brought out by the producer. The whole performance is distinctly satisfying, if one conveniently forgets the introduction of American Flying Squad methods in the first reel.

A most enjoyable farewell dinner was held by the Matriculation boys of Wah Yan College at Lane, Crawford's Restaurant on Saturday when a full attendance of masters including the Headmaster, Father Gallagher, S.J., was present. During the course of the dinner, the Chairman, Mr. Chan Fook-hong, the spokesman of the class, expressed his thanks and gratitude to all the masters of the College and hoped that that night's meeting might be a link in a long chain of annual reunions when they would all come together and keep in contact with one another and with their old College. In reply, the Headmaster and the other masters hoped that the boys would do very well in the coming examination.

INTERPORT TRIAL

Superior in every department, the Interport trial team had no difficulty in beating the Navy yesterday, scoring five times. The weak opposition failed to provide a real test for the Interport nominees, who did what they liked, and the selectors would do well not to place too much importance and reliance on this result.

A pleasing feature of the game was the opportunism of the Interport forwards together with the general standard of play displayed by the team. Opening out the game well, and shooting with deadly accuracy, the selected forwards gave the Navy defence a harassing time. Chen and Gosano on the right wing were particularly dangerous, whilst Duncan of the Borderers required a good deal of watching. Howe led the forwards with a fair amount of success, and Leonard was neat and progressive in all he did.

Tong Kwan at right half was the best intermediate on the field, and Mullane, Strange and Rodgers provided a defence far too strong and resourceful for the half-hearted Navy attack.

The Interport possibilities led 2-1 at the interval, Leonard claiming the first and Gosano the second, whilst Davies replied for the Navy.

Duncan (S.W.B.) scored a magnificent goal early in the second half, and then Howe netted twice in quick succession to complete the utter disruption of the Navy. They made desperate attempts to recover and seizing an opportunity Monger sent past Rodgers with a fast drive.

Teams:—
Selected XI:—Rodger; Mullane & Strange; Tong Kwan, Barber, A. Duncan; Cheng Shui-hon, B. Gosano, Howe, D. Leonard and Duncan (S.W.B.).
Navy:—Leash; Gilbert and Hall; Robinson, Lawrence, and Goodrich; Monger, Peaker, Davies, Sayer and Cormack.

TSUI JUSTIFIES HIMSELF.

Tsui Wai-pui, advocated in these columns from the very first as the obvious No. 3 singles player, did to Wade what Lum had two hours previously done to Rumjahn, only more so. The young Chinese playing with the confidence of a veteran instead of one who was making his Interport debut, drove, cut, sniped, and sliced his way through Wade to the tune of three straight sets, and gave such a convincing demonstration of pure tennis, that he has made safe his place in the Hongkong Interport teams of the future.

We all knew that Tsui had the strokes. The point was, could he control them sufficiently and reduce to the absolute minimum the number of errors likely to accrue from them? He was very definite in his answer. Playing almost faultless tennis he carried himself through to one of the most popular victories of the series. Tsui pulled out the majority of his strokes, but his chief asset was his backhand and forehand drives and his court craft in luring Wade up to the net with drag shots.

Wade, although outplayed, gave a plucky account of himself, opposed as he was to a player 20 years his junior, who made him run about all over the court. But he made one fatal error of attempting to drive Tsui off the court. It just couldn't be done with the Chinese on such form.

Tsui received a great ovation at the conclusion of the game, and it was obvious that Hongkong were right on their toes determined to reduce the balance against them to the smallest possible margin.

STILL SUPREME.

Yet after the first twenty minutes of the last doubles match between the Rumpahns and Cheng and Lum it looked odds on that Shanghai were to enjoy a 4-1 victory. Lum and Cheng, taking advantage of a slop start by the Rumjahnns went to 6-2 in the opening stanza. Then came the transformation. H.D., volleying magnificently and making conceivable recovery shots, fairly dominated the court to stop the triumphant march of the Shanghai pair. It gave "Sirdar" the confidence he badly needed, and thereafter our local champions were masters of the situation. They took the score to 6-all and then 6-5. Shanghai drew level, but the Rumjahnns, better in court craft and in team work, were undeniable and went away to capture the set at 8-6.

All the time the tennis was becoming more and more dazzling and some of the rallies touched the peak of brilliance. H. P. Rumjahn and Gordon Lum stood out ahead of Cheng and S. A., and often had duels at the net which invariably finished in favour of Rumjahn. "Man in the heret" (who incidentally sported a jockey cap, and thereby upset the superstitious) indulged in a wizardly game and was almost blameless in everything he did.

CHENG COLLAPSES.

Lum was a worthy opponent, but Cheng, once the Rumjahnns had gained the ascendancy and were in the position to call the tune, collapsed badly and failed to give his partner adequate support. He served double faults and was atrocious in some of his overhead work.

The cousins experienced a second bad patch when they allowed the Shanghai pair to take a 5-2 lead in the third set, but once again their fighting powers came to pull them through and amid tense excitement, they regained equality and finally polished off the match at 7-5. Sirdar Rumjahn obtaining the winning point with a glorious volley.

Thus ended the 1932 Interport. A victory for Shanghai, but in many respects a complete vindication for the Hongkong team. I take my hat off to the gallant play of the Lo brothers, and say without hesitation, or without in any way decrying Wade and Canavarro, that the Lo's were unlucky to lose.

I was really disappointed to see Fincher lose, because I feel certain that he had the match in his hands, but allowed over-confidence to bring about his downfall. Tsui accomplished everything one expected of him, and more, and the Rumjahnns again demonstrated that they are the finest combination in the Far East.

MAGNIFICENT SWAN SONG.

John Wade played a true captain's part in the success of his team, and he sang a magnificent swan song to Interport tennis. Gordon Lum, obviously inspired, was the finest singles player, and Cheng had every reason to be satisfied with his first Interport. He won when defeat stared him in the face. He was the model of patient efficiency, and has a fine career before him.

Canavarro, the oldest Interport in the two teams, although but a shadow of his former self, gave Wade splendid backing yesterday morning and played his part in the defeat of the Lo brothers.

It was a fine sporting contest, with a result at which nobody can cavil.

A cold draught

is sufficient to bring on a serious attack of bronchial catarrh. The resulting cough is a trouble in your social engagements. In addition, it robs you of sleep and makes you dull and unfit for work.

Don't waste time in trying this, that or the other remedy — bronchial catarrh easily becomes chronic — but take CRESIVAL at once! It loosens the phlegm, allays the cough and gets rid of the catarrh certainly and quickly.

CRESIVAL has a pleasant taste, and is therefore readily taken even by children.

When buying, see that you get the original package with the BAYER CROSS.

WHAT ARE THE POLICE DOING?

Christmas, his description has been circulated all over the world. "Red, dissolute-looking face, bulbous nose. Wears false beard, invariably white. Usually dresses in red overcoat with white collar and cuffs. Specialises in chimney. Regarded as dangerous."

From information received, the local authorities suspect that this desperado is en route to Hongkong.

Those residents of Hongkong who were kept waiting on the wharf at Kowloon while the Police Authorities made a thorough search of the passengers on board the Empress of Japan and President Hoover this week, will now know the cause. It was not, as at first reported, merely an examination of passports, but an effort to apprehend the arch-criminal.

Although no arrests were made, the authorities believe they have a clue.

Among the charges against this maniac are——Breaking and entering!
—False pretences;
—suspected cruelty to reindeer;
—disturbing the peace;
—entering young girls' bedrooms at dead of night;
—entering the Colony without a passport;
—and generally being a mark all round.

He has an extraordinary number of fences and has been known to filch dollars off noble bread-winners and alter them into cut-glass water jugs for Aunt, a three-wheeled bicycle for little Willie, a hot-water bag for grandma, and a rusty look from the shroff who comes to collect the dollars.

It is to be hoped that instead of wasting time on murderers and kidnapers, the police will concentrate on the capture of this despicable character before the second week in December. Otherwise, we're ruined.

The Management regrets having to take this step, but owing to the numerous requests from patrons, we have weakened. The argument in favour of this innovation is logical, for why indeed should such a perfect spring dance floor be provided, (incidentally, the only one of its kind in Hongkong) if it is not used! We offer no defence, for we are here to serve the public, and to this end have engaged the services of—

"SPIRIT OF FUN" ARRIVES

FLYERS COME AND GO IN UNIQUE TOUR

Just when everyone at Kai Tak had given up hopes of their arrival, the three intrepid airmen who are making a world flight in the "Spirit of Fun" swooped down on Hongkong on Saturday afternoon, and made a perfect landing at 2.43 p.m., running 24 hours ahead of their schedule.

The crowd, which had collected in the morning in anticipation of the arrival of the plane from Hanoi at 10 a.m., had dwindled and Mr. Arthur M. Loew, first Vice-President of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who has chosen this method of reaching the international offices of his far-flung organisation, was greeted by only half-a-dozen officials and one lone press representative.

The machine left again early yesterday morning and a Reuter message reports their arrival at Shanghai at 11.30 a.m.

Immediately upon arrival, Mr. Loew and his fellow-traveller, Mr. Joseph Rothal, were whisked away to the Peninsula Hotel for a much-needed rest, while the pilot, Capt. James B. Dickson, made re-fuelling arrangements for the flight to Shanghai.

The airmen were astir long before daybreak yesterday morning, and just as the sun came over the horizon the giant monoplane was wheeled out of the hangar, a few hurried farewells were taken while the engine was warming up; then, taking across the aerodrome, the "Spirit of Fun" rose into the air, and within a few minutes had disappeared over Lyemoo Pass, en route to Shanghai, where the airmen expected to arrive at 10 a.m. yesterday.

The flight to Shanghai is a race against time, for, unable to obtain permission from the Japanese authorities to fly to Tokyo, Mr. Loew is endeavouring to reach Shanghai in time to connect with the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, which was due to leave the northern port at 11 a.m. yesterday. Mr. Loew will spend three days in Japan, visiting the various centres of his organisation, and will then return to Shanghai to continue his record-breaking flight across the six continents of the world, a flight he hopes to complete within the current year.

From Shanghai, Mr. Loew and his two companions will retrace their route to Hongkong and Hanoi, and from the latter place will endeavour to fly non-stop to Calcutta, a distance of 1,400 miles. They will proceed to Johannesburg, and if possible will then attack the record made by Mr. J. Mollison for a flight between South Africa and England.

Accompanying Mr. Loew on the world flight is Mr. Joseph Rothal, his friend and legal adviser.

Mr. Loew is co-pilot of the machine, although Capt. Dickson, who has flown the "Spirit of Fun" for the past two years, is the chief pilot. Both Mr. Loew and Capt. Dickson joined the U.S. Flying Corps after the Great War, and Capt. Dickson already has over 2,700 flying hours to his credit.

Record-Breaking Plane. The "Spirit of Fun," the plane in which they are making their unprecedented dash, is owned by the Hal Hal Roach Studios, and has been lent for the occasion. It is one of the fastest passenger planes in the air, and is capable of a cruising speed of 180 and a top speed of 220 m.p.h. The plane can carry six persons, including the pilot, and, in addition, has a full length bed for the comfort of the passengers.

The landing gear of the "Spirit of Fun" disappears into the wings during flight, adding considerably to the speed and stream-lining of the plane.

The "Spirit of Fun" has already made a 17,000 miles tour of South America, visiting all the important capitals, and has broken the existing records over every single flight made in the southern continent of America. It also holds the record from Chicago to New York and the westbound record from Kansas City to Albuquerque. Capt. Dickson, who has piloted the speedy plane since it was purchased two years ago, is proud of the fact that he has landed on schedule in 400 cities in every state of the United States.

TOM MIXES IN.

COWBOY FILM STAR HURT WHEN HORSE STUMBLES

Hollywood, Oct. 23. The famous cowboy film star Tom Mix sustained concussion today while filming a typically dare-devil episode.

After a hand to hand fight on horseback with the villain, Mix turned to make a spectacular dash up a steep embankment. His horse, Tony, stumbled, threw the rider and rolled on top of him. Mix was unconscious for several minutes.—Our Own Correspondent.

OFF TO MUKDEN

MR. CORKRAN TELLS OF A NEAR RESCUE

Newchwang, Oct. 23. Looking pale, and walking with a slight limp, Mr. Charles Corkran left for Mukden today to report to his firm the uncontrollable circumstances which accounted for his absence from duty.

Interviewed by Reuter to-day, Mr. Corkran revealed that he and Mrs. Pawley were within an ace of being rescued five days after they were captured. On the approach of some Manchukuo soldiers, who enquired of the bandits if they had seen the captives, the bandit chief, Pei Pai-tien, who had hurriedly donned the captive's clothes, directed them in a southerly direction.

When the troops were out of sight, he hurried the captives northward. Neither had a chance to escape, as they were compelled to lie down in a ditch with revolvers pressed to their sides.

"On the whole, the bandits were not bad fellows, although some of them were brutal."

H.M.S. Sandwich, which was ordered here after the capture of the two Britons, has now left for Chefoo.—Reuter.

The Government's Thanks.

London, Oct. 22. The British Government have conveyed their warm thanks to the Japanese Government for the successful assistance rendered them and their representatives in obtaining the release from the Manchurian bandits of Mrs. Pawley and Mr. Corkran.

British Consular Officers at Mukden and Newchwang have also been instructed to thank all those on the spot who collaborated in this task.—British Wireles.

Mrs. Pawley Leave For Japan

Newchwang, Oct. 23. Mrs. Muriel Pawley, accompanied by her husband and parents, left for Dairen yesterday afternoon en route for Hoshigaura, where she will recuperate her health. Life here since her return has proved too fatiguing, as she has had to pose for photographers and give receptions to pressmen to answer unabated enquiries.

TRAGEDY FEARED

NAVAL OFFICERS CAUGHT IN CHANNEL GALE

London, Oct. 22. Great anxiety is felt for the safety of three young naval officers who were caught in a severe channel gale while returning to Portsmouth from Havre in a sixteen foot sloop, the "Little Owl."

The officers are Lieutenants Collin, McMullen, Charles Keys and Claxland.

The sloop, "Little Owl," set off in company with another small yacht called the "Wallop," sailed by three other officers, including Paymaster Lieutenant Maurice McMullen, brother of one of the missing officers.

After encountering a terrific sea the officers on the "Wallop," who had previously lost contact with the "Little Owl," were picked up in exhausted condition off Selsey Bill by the s.s. Mary Glen.

Shortly after the rescue the gale was blowing at seventy miles an hour.

It is considered that the only hope for the missing officers is that they have been picked up by a passing steamer. They were not equipped with wireless.—British Wireles.

her health. Life here since her return has proved too fatiguing, as she has had to pose for photographers and give receptions to pressmen to answer unabated enquiries.

On returning to Tientsin, where her husband is connected with the A. P. C., she will stay with friends so as to avoid leaving her alone when her husband is at office.

A thanksgiving service will be held at the Newchwang church on Sunday.

It appears that no ransom was paid to the bandits whom the Japanese intermediaries gave only winter clothing and other gifts. The bandits apparently felt that to hold their captives any longer would only spell their own doom.—Reuter's Reuter.

SERIOUS FRACAS

COOLIE DANGEROUSLY INJURED

Riotous scenes occurred in Connaught Road Central last night when two gangs of coolies savagely attacked each other with sticks and bamboo poles. One man was fatally injured in the melee and several were arrested.

At 6 p.m. the work of unloading vegetables from the Ching Fat, lying by the Kwong Wing wharf was proceeding steadily, when suddenly a man's scream rose above the babble of the workers. The foreman of the wharf coolies had discovered a street coolie stealing vegetables.

According to statements made to the police, the wharf foreman seized the thief and was leading him to the police station when a gang of the prisoner's friends rushed to the rescue. The foreman was surrounded in a minute but he, too, had friends and in a few seconds a furious battle was raging.

Bamboo poles were waved in the air and brought down hard whenever a suitable target offered. Movable articles on the wharf were seized and flung about indiscriminately.

Tong Taat, the coolie who is alleged to have stolen the vegetables, fared worst. He received serious head injuries when a terrific blow laid him unconscious on the wharf. The sudden shout of "Police" caused a wild scatter. Most of the combatants escaped but several were arrested.

Police inquiries were made last night by Inspector J. Murphy who is in charge of the case, and Detective Sergeant J. Allen.

Tong Taat was taken to the Government Civil Hospital where he is in a dangerous condition. An operation was being performed in last effort to save his life.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Probation after death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 23rd.

The Golden Text was: "Behold, now is the day of salvation." (11 Cor. 6: 2.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "If in his life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept. For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death." (1 Cor. 15: 19-21, 26.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science text book, Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy: "If man is never to overcome death, why do the Scriptures say, 'The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death'? The tenor of the Word shows that we shall obtain the victory over death in proportion as we overcome sin." (P. 427: 17-21.)

SHANTUNG WAR

HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT OF TROUBLE SHATTERED

Nanking, Oct. 22. Hopes of a peaceful settlement of the Shantung affair have again been shattered, following upon receipt of reports that Han Fu-chu had launched a fierce artillery attack on Laichow, where Liu Hien-nien and several thousands of his troops had been bottled up. It was announced from Peking yesterday that Han Fu-chu had signed the Governorship of Shantung, it being generally believed that his action was due to an inability to accept Nanking's offers to withdraw his troops to their original defence area. Han Fu-chu's resignation was viewed as a polite form of refusal of the terms of settlement decreed by the Central Authorities.

CHILE RECOGNISED.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN RELATIONS CORDIAL

London, Oct. 22. Sir H. Chilton, British Ambassador at Santiago, yesterday added Notes to the Chilean Foreign Minister stating that the Government in the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand and Canada are happy to enter into official relations with the Chilean Government as at present constituted.

A similar Note was also presented by United States Ambassador. The present Chilean Government came into power on September 16 when Senor Davila was replaced.

SUBMARINE FLOTILLA.

H.M.S. MEDWAY RETURNS TO HONGKONG

In brilliant sunshine, H.M.S. Medway, accompanied by the submarine flotilla, steamed into harbour at 8 a.m. yesterday, returning from her six-months summer cruise to Wei-hai-wei.

Accompanying the Medway were the submarines Osiris, Orpheus, Odlin, and Otus, the Pandora and Proteus having arrived on Saturday afternoon.

The arrival of H.M.S. Bridge-water today and of H.M.S. Cumberland to-morrow will practically see the completion of the return of the whole of the China Squadron, nominally stationed at Hongkong, from summer exercises. H.M.S. Cumberland will not, however, remain in Hongkong, but will make her departure at the end of the month for Home, where she will re-commission.

H.M.S. Hermes, the aircraft carrier, will arrive on October 31, and will be followed by H.M.S. Kent on November 10. The Hermes will only remain in port for a few weeks and will then depart for England for re-fit. She will be relieved in Eastern waters by H.M.S. Eagle, which is due to arrive early in January.

Replacing Aircraft.

It is understood that the Hermes is to have the aircraft at present on board entirely replaced by new types. At present she carries Flycatcher fighters and Fairly III reconnaissance machines. These are in process of replacement by the Nimrod and the Osprey, the naval developments of the Hawker Hornet and Hawker Hart, and with which the Hermes will be duly equipped.

The aircraft carrier, Eagle, which relieves the Hermes in Eastern waters, is at present under repair at Devonport.

The senior R.A.F. officer in the Hermes, Wing Commander A. W. F. Glenn, M.C., D.F.C., is one of the few holding such a position who were formerly in the R.F.C.

Usually the senior officers in the carriers have come from the R.N.A.S. side of the R.A.F., but the official policy has been to discourage the division of the Force into compartments, the aim being that an officer should be capable of flying any type anywhere.

BRILLIANT FUNCTION.

RE-OPENING OF HONGKONG HOTEL ROOF GARDEN

Over 400 guests were present at the Hongkong Hotel on Saturday night on the occasion of the re-opening of the popular Roof Garden there.

Something entirely new in social entertainment was provided by the management for the occasion, the function being termed an "Oriental Night." A truly exotic Eastern atmosphere was provided by the decorations and the costumes of the attendants, and without doubt the cabaret setting and programme were enjoyed by everyone present.

Dancing was carried on throughout the evening until after 1 a.m., the new dance orchestra, "The Revellers," providing the music.

In addition to the "Revellers," who incidentally promise to become one of the most popular dance bands in the Colony, music was provided for the waiters by Joe Futera's popular band.

Interspersed between the dances were several items by Mr. Martin Cave, the "Second Al Jolson," whose numbers, rendered in the true Jolsonian manner, were vociferously encored. The famous Joy Fun Toy Company left the spectators breathless with the magic of their several acts, the cream of their recent performances at the King's Theatre.

Mr. Martin Cave received such a popular welcome from the audience on Saturday night that the Hotel has decided to retain his services for future tea dances. Singing in conjunction with the "Revellers," this artiste promises to become one of the triumphs of the forthcoming winter season in Hongkong.

WHY NOT HAVE THAT EXTRA THIRD?

CHINA REALTY COMPANY 8% DEBENTURES
8% INTEREST VS 6% INTEREST
MEANS ONE THIRD MORE INCOME

The natural laws of economics require an investor to secure the best return especially upon savings—trust funds—consistent with safety.

The China Realty Company is one of the oldest (established more than 20 years) real estate companies in Shanghai with a steady successful record back of it.

Capital $5,000,000 fully paid in cash.

Business turnover 1931, $45,532,300 in land and mortgages only, which does not include management of estates, rent collections, insurance written, trustees for beneficial owners of property and sundry sources of income.

The Company are Realtors, not speculators in Real Estate.

The balance sheet as of December 31, 1931 shows:—

Assets ..... $12,341,726.31
Land and Buildings at cost ..... 3,351,055.84
Cash ..... 1,844,259.11

Mortgages on Real Estate held by Company Dec. 31, 1931 ..... $5,971,209
Total Debenture Issue Dec. 31, 1931 4,840,700 by which it will be noted that all of the proceeds from Debentures are invested in Mortgages and $1,131,500 of the Company's capital.

In the past twenty years the Company has negotiated more than one hundred million Taels in mortgages, all of which has been repaid, principal with interest.

The following extracts are taken from the Chairman's statement at the last annual Shareholders Meeting, February 20th, 1932.

"We feel that the Debenture holder from an investment standpoint, is just as much an interested partner of the Company as the Common Shareholder and is entitled to his just return on his investment, and by the figures given on the two years' working. I think we have amply proven that we were right that our Debenture holders receive eight per cent. interest instead of six per cent."

"The most successful concerns of the future will be those who recognize this principle—that even banks will allocate to depositors a part of profits earned on their money over and above current rates of interest. As our balance sheets show quite plainly the proceeds from the sale of our debentures is not used for the purchase of Real Estate, as we are not speculators, but for investment in first class mortgages, amply secured not only by the value of the property pledged as security, but as a further security the debentures constitute a first claim on the total assets of the Company. An analysis of the figures involved shows that every debenture has behind it assets equal to three times its value."

"If after careful consideration of actual facts and figures you are receiving less than 8% upon your investments and/or savings, you are not using judgment but following old customs, believing 5% and 6% are current rates."

COMPARISON

Mortgage Department, 1930-1931

Year	Amount	Market Value of Property	% Value loaned	Average Interest rate	Average Commission %	Excess Interest over 8%	Amount Commission Earned
1930	10,052,040	$18,662,000	54%	9.18%	1.215%	$118,614	$122,316
1931	19,194,867	34,075,565	56%	9.33%	0.765%	255,291	146,825

Earned above 8% paid to Debenture holders—$643,046

Of the above mortgages, there was assigned to investors:

1931 ..... $13,223,545.00

A lower rate of commission existed in 1931 due to cheap money for the greater part of the year, from September, money commenced to tighten up. As it is we earned 1.33% interest in excess of 8% paid on our Debentures, in addition to $146,825 commissions. From the above it will be seen that our 8% Debentures are secured by first mortgages on 56.4% of value and backed up with $5,000,000 capital.

This is No. 45 of a series advertisements issued to interest Hongkong investors in the liberal investment opportunities offered by the China Realty Company, Shanghai.

PIRATES CAUGHT

SEQUEL TO COUP ON THE S.S. HELIKON

Canton, Oct. 23. Much interest is attached to a report from Swabuo stating that a portion of the gang responsible for the recent piracy of the Chinese owned, s.s. Helikon, a Hongkong-Salmon passenger and cargo steamer, has been arrested by marines from Chinese gunboats.

The alleged pirates were removing their booty, looted from the Helikon, to Keishi, a coastal port some thirty miles east of Hongkong Bay, when their fishing junks encountered a Chinese gunboat.

The presence of the cargo on the junks attracted the marines' attention and they ordered a search. The alleged pirates were immediately subjected to a close examination and these men, together with the cargo, have since been detained pending the arrival of officers of the s.s. Helikon and the responsible Police officials to identify them.

The Helikon, owned by the Woo Fat Shing Company of Hongkong, was seized by pirates and held for forty-five hours. She returned to Hongkong on October 14. The steamer was looted and four Chinese passengers were taken for ransom.

COMMUNIST REIGN

RED AGITATORS ACTIVE IN MANCHURIA

Harbin, Oct. 23. According to the Russian press the movement of Chinese refugees in the Antichuan districts has taken on a Communist character and the leaders are recruiting farm labourers for the Red Spears and Big Swords, making use of such slogans as "Join up with the People's Army, the Defenders of the Oppressed Workers."

All the villages are being systematically subjected to propaganda by professional agitators whose main plank is: "Two cows and two pigs and no more for each family."

The agitators and detachment commanders are reuniting grain, foodstuffs and livestock, and the terrorised farmers are quitting their homesteads.—Reuter.

COTTON DISPUTE

MILLS TO RE-OPEN THIS MORNING

London, Oct. 23. The cotton spinning dispute has been settled on the basis of a wage reduction of 1s. 6d. in the pound, dating from the 31st inst.

The mills which have been lying idle on account of the strike will re-open on Monday.—Reuter.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Forty of the prettiest girls in Hollywood appear with the ravishing Ann Pennington in an extravagant sequence of "Is Everybody Happy?" the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production, starring Ted Lewis which comes to the Queen's Theatre shortly. Ann is seen on the stage of a theatre as a member of the "Follies," singing a lifting song about the glories of Samoa, and then going into an Hawaiian dance which represents the proverbial last word in graceful gyrations. And the forty chorus maidens, dressed in exotic costumes of a sort, though pleasing, design, furnish a stage picture of particular beauty. These girls were trained for "Is Everybody Happy?" by Larry Ceballos, head of the ballet department of Warner Bros. and a dance producer who has for many years been recognized as a leader in his profession.

In "Is Everybody Happy?" Ted Lewis, popular and talented musician of vaudeville fame, makes his debut as a talking motion star. The picture is filled with singing, dancing, pretty girls and the entrancing music of Ted's own band. Assisting him in the cast besides Miss Pennington, are Alice Day, Julia Swayne Gordon, Lawrence Grant and Purnell Pratt. Archilo L. Mayo directed and the screen story was written by Joseph Jackson and James A. Starr.

"Aren't We All?"

Hugh Wakefield, who is lending his brilliant acting ability to the film "Aren't We All?" is one of the best known racing motorists and airmen in the country. He was one of the most daring pilots in the Royal Air Force during the war, and his skill as a stunt flier gained him a great reputation for daring and efficiency. It is not generally known that he was the originator of one of the most spectacular and dangerous stunts used in the war. This is the now famous "Falling Leaf" manoeuvre, which got its name from the resemblance of the aeroplane to a falling leaf as it twists down from the tree. In "Aren't We All?" Hugh Wakefield takes the part of Lord Grenham, a role that is rich in humour.

Hugh Wakefield made his first appearance on the stage at the age of ten at the St. James' Theatre in "The Days of Old." He played a number of other child parts in successful productions, including "Shock-headed Peter" and "Bluebell in Fairyland." In 1910 he appeared as Lord Fancourt Babberly in "Charley's Aunt." After his war service in the Royal Air Force he retired in 1920 with the rank of Major—he returned to the stage with a role in "London, Paris and New York" at the London Pavilion. One of his greatest successes was as Count Hubert de Linneourt in "Blue-beret's Eighth Wife," which ran for over a year. "Aren't We All?" is showing at the King's Theatre to-day.

"To-morrow and To-morrow."

"To-morrow and To-morrow," Philip Barry's play of a courageous, unconventional wife to whom marriage is not sufficiently soul-satisfying, is the latest starring film vehicle for Ruth Chatterton, recently completed at Paramount's new concert stadium. This philosophical, yet clearly understandable emotional drama, is the King's Theatre's feature, beginning Thursday next. Paul Lukas supports Miss Chatterton in the featured male lead. The play, the latest by the author of more than ten recent Broadway successes, enjoyed a long run in New York and is now playing in numerous large cities. Miss Chatterton's part as a woman whose heart is divided between her earthbound, "eternal collection" husband and a man who uncovers hidden romantic spots of her life is said by preview critics to be her most dramatic role since entering pictures.

RICE MONOPOLY

EMPIRE PRODUCT TO BE MILLED IN LONDON

London, Oct. 22. With the object of securing for Empire rice-growing the monopoly which foreign rice have hitherto obtained in Britain, a large and most modern rice mill will be erected near the Thames by a group of London business men, working in conjunction with a group of Burma rice-millers.

The scheme is regarded as an outcome of the Ottawa Agreements, under which a penny per pound duty is imposed on foreign rice. It is hoped that the products of the mill will be on the market by the end of February.

The wholesale price will be about £13. 10s. a ton, whereas Spanish rice, plus the new duty will cost the distributor about £23.—Reuter.

BRITISH MOTORS

LARGE INCREASE AT OLYMPIA EXHIBITION

London, Oct. 22. The International Motor Show at Olympia, London, which has been open nine days, ends to-night. The visitors numbered about the same total as last year, namely about 135,000, but the exhibitors agree that the business done shows a very considerable increase.

Sir Herbert Austin, head of the great Motor firm, speaking at the Production Engineer's Institute last night, said that "If conditions in the motor trade are any criterion they are so good that we are entirely surprised by the big sales being made. Our own particular sales on the home market are up to seventy or eighty per cent on last year and our export sales are nearly double."—British Wireless.

RAILWAY BUFFETS.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR RETURNING TROOPS

London, Oct. 22. Soldiers newly returned from abroad will in future find railway buffets to cater for their needs on the journey from their port of arrival to the barracks.

An arrangement has been made by the War Office with the railways, under which troops will present vouchers, the value of which will vary according to the length of the journey and the time of the day.

Meat pies will be of an average weight of 4 ounces, and sandwiches must contain at least an ounce of meat.—Reuter.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY

SPECIAL SERMON BY THE DEAN

DOCTORS & NURSES ATTEND

A special service, attended by H.E. the Officer Administering the Government, the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, C.M.G., and by many local doctors and nurses, was held at St. John's Cathedral in connection with Hospitals yesterday morning.

Special lessons were read by Prof. L. T. Ride, M.A., Ch.B., M.B., Dean of the Medical Faculty at the Hongkong University, and by Dr. G.A.C. Herklotz, Ph.D., M.Sc., F.L.S., and special prayers for all connected with the Medical and Nursing professions were offered. Poems by Alfred Tennyson and Charles Kingsley were sung as hymns.

The sermon was given by the Very Rev. Alfred Swann, M.A., D.S.C., the Very Rev. the Dean of Hongkong.

The text was taken from Ecclesiastes XXXVIII (1.) "Honour a physician with the honour due unto him, for the uses which ye may have of him: for the Lord hath created him."

The Work of Healing.

The Dean said: In July this year a great service was held in Worcester Cathedral to celebrate the Centenary of the British Medical Association, which was founded in the city of Worcester by Charles Hastings. Lord Dawson of Penn, the President of the Association, unveiled a window in memory of the Founder, and the whole service was arranged as a thanksgiving—as one part of the form of service stated—to Almighty God "for a hundred years of beneficent activity guided by His wisdom and enabled by His power."

Gratitude for divine wisdom and power in the art of healing was the keynote of that occasion. It is the keynote also of our Hospital Sunday in this Cathedral.

Of recent years we have made a practice of setting aside a day on which to concentrate our minds upon the work of healing and preventing disease, and we do this in the House of God because we have no doubt that God knows and cares about every part of it, and that His merciful hand is at work in it all.

Everyone is interested in medical work, partly because everyone knows that he will in all probability sooner or later need its help, and partly because the care of the sick makes an appeal to the sympathy which is in the heart of every normal person.

The needs of the body are as yet more easily recognised than those of the spirit. It is perhaps one of the most regrettable facts of modern life that whereas there is general agreement about the needs of the body there is a great deal of difference of opinion about spiritual needs. Men of widely differing views or no views at all about the spirit will join in their concern for physical well-being.

Spiritual Wellbeing.

We are convinced, and we have the authority of the Master, Jesus Christ, and of all saintly people with us in this, that spiritual well-being is of far greater importance in human life than physical: and yet we have the same authority for setting a value on physical soundness which is second only to spiritual health.

Thus it is that we meet to-day to express in the presence of God our gratitude for all the noble work done to preserve, to increase, and to restore physical health.

When Jesus walked the hills and sea shore of Galilee, or the streets or temple courts of Jerusalem, his eyes were always open to notice, to feel, and to alleviate suffering. Wherever He went He healed the sick. No modern view of the means or methods of Christ's healing ministry in the least degree affects the truth and the reality of our picture of Him as the Great Healer. But there were occasions when little or no gratitude was shown to Him. Out of the ten lepers cleansed only one took the trouble to say "thank you."

Similarly we are only too apt to take for granted the "beneficent activity" of the medical and nursing professions. We do well to remember that doctors and nurses are always dealing with abnormal people. Health is the average man's normal condition, when he is ill he is, as we say, "not himself." It is true that in some good souls sickness brings out a self which is better than the normal, but most of us, I fear, fall short of that. Doctors and nurses deal with us when we are nervous, impatient, exacting. We make heavy demands on their time, their patience and their energy, but often we repay them with little gratitude.

To-day, therefore, we take this opportunity of apologizing for our abnormalities, and of expressing our better feelings of gratefulness for the services of those who helped us in sickness.

Thanksgiving Service.

But this Service is not merely an expression of gratitude in the presence of God to those who guard our health. It is definitely a thanksgiving to God Himself. We recognise that we are in debt to God, not merely to human hands and human minds, for the beneficent activity of medical, surgical and nursing work. In this we go further than many who would gladly be grateful to the doctors and nurses and philanthropists to whom they owe their health, but who leave God out. We see the hand of God in all their work. His is the wisdom which guides their minds and His the power which enable them to give effect to their knowledge. "Honour a physician" says the writer of "Ecclesiastes" "with the honour due unto him: for the Lord hath created him. Of the Most High cometh healing." Every physician and surgeon will readily admit that all that he can do is "to help Nature to do her work." In other words—"of the Most High cometh healing." The human healer is the agent of the Divine. His knowledge, his skill, his autensness, his dexterity are not his own, but God's. They are talents entrusted for investment in human life and health. In the words of Charles Kingsley which we have just sung—

"From Thee all skill and science flow,
"All pity, care, and love,
All calm and courage, faith and hope—
O pour them from above!
And part them, Lord, to each and all,
As each and all shall need
To rise, like incense, each to Thee
In noble thought and deed."
Thus, just as two weeks ago we gave thanks to God for all His benefits which come to us through the hands of agriculturalist, manufacturer, merchant, and the rest, so to-day we thank Him for His gifts of healing which reach us through scientists, doctors and nurses.

The Hand of God.

Earlier generations than our own used to see the hand of God only in the miraculous, only in what man could not understand or explain; now we have learnt that we must not limit God's activity to the incomprehensible. To do this would be to push God further and further out of His universe, since science is daily advancing in the knowledge of causation. To-day we realise that we must look for God in all things good. Wherever there is beneficent activity, there is God at work. And this is true whether the activity is what we call "explainable" or not.

Now this line of thought must lead us to regard those engaged in preserving or restoring health as co-workers with God. There are some, however, who believe it to be right to dispense altogether with the help of medicine and surgery and to trust, in sickness, to faith in God alone. The Catholic Church, (and by that I do not mean only the Roman Catholic Church) believes this to be a quite misguided outlook. God has given us material benefits in plenty, richly to enjoy and to use, and we regard it as just as foolish to dispense with drugs in sickness as with food in health. Of course we are eager to proclaim the power of faith in God as a means of restoration of health, but we cannot admit that it is the only legitimate means. I think it true that those who turn themselves to Christian Scientists have done humanity no small service in emphasising the power of faith: it is a truth which has often been lost sight of. But by itself it is only a part of the full truth of God's workings. The Good Samaritan who cares for the wounded traveller, sterilising his wounds with wine and binding them up, has the approval and the sanction of God as much as the disciple who, by arousing the cripple's faith in Christ, enables him to leap up and walk. God is acting in the one case as fully as in the other. Every good doctor recognises the power of faith in his patient—and in himself as well—and he will make use of it as carefully as he uses his drugs or his knife. He brings to his work all his gifts and uses them as God's agent.

The Agents of God.

This, of course, applies also to every branch of the healing art. Research Workers, bacteriologists, chemists, radiologists, nurses, all are as much co-workers with God as physicians and surgeons. They are all God's agents for the benefit of mankind.

If this is true, as we believe, we are led to a further consideration. If all this work is indeed the work of God, it can best be done only in conscious collaboration with God and in dependence upon Him.

The character of the doctor or the nurse is a very vital factor in the success of their work. I have spoken of the demands which patients constantly make upon them. These demands are very largely upon their character. A doctor or a nurse who, in spite of weariness, in spite of their patient being "difficult," in spite of their desire perhaps to be anywhere else but at his bedside at the time, can continue to be painstaking, patient and cheering is amongst God's heroes and a veritable light in the darkness. Such character cannot be maintained except by dependence on God. A doctor or a nurse

THE MANCHURIAN PROBLEM

WAY OUT

London, Oct. 23. Recalling the one-time danger of Japanese secession from the League of Nations, the Observer remarks that the fact that the Japanese delegation is now on its way to Geneva is the best news the world has had in any field for many months.

The paper asks, regarding Baron Matsuoka's statement that he cannot accept the 10th point in the Lytton report, "Is the world so young or diplomacy so untried that surprise can be caused by the statement? Climbing down from the heights is one of the preliminaries to conciliation and harmony. We may await the discussions with some confidence in their success."

The diplomatic correspondent of the Observer says that in London the spirit and the practical proposals of the Report are recognised as a wholly harmonious with the consistent advice given by the British spokesmen at Geneva since the controversy reached its climax in the summer of 1931.

He adds that opinion here fully agrees with Baron Matsuoka that the lack of effective government in China is one of the basic problems, but it is believed that a solution to the problem will be found in the Lytton recommendations, the advantages of which to Japan and the whole Far East are likely to be more fully appreciated by Baron Matsuoka when he engages in a frank discussion at Geneva.—Reuter.

who does his or her work quite definitely and consciously for God is of the salt of the earth. Such a one will be humble enough to say "Lord, when saw we Thee sick and visited Thee?" but he or she will hear the reply "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto Me."

It is just here that we believe the Church can be of use. It is Her life's work to put men and women into touch with God and to keep them there, so that all the fruit of the Spirit may have entrance into their hearts. And the fruit of the Spirit of God includes the long-suffering and the tenderness and the conscientious carefulness which are so altogether hankworthy in those who tend the sick. We would therefore plead with doctors and nurses to let the Church help them to maintain that Communion with God, which will enable them to keep their ideal of their work high and give them from day to day and week by week the gifts which they need.

Advancement of Science.

During the past century science has advanced amazingly. We are living to-day in an altogether different world from our great-grandfathers. In some respects it is to be feared that scientific advance has been too rapid for us, our inventions have got out of hand and are turning upon us to do us harm. Character has not advanced proportionately. So that we are not at present able to control and to use for the benefit of mankind all our recent knowledge. Too much of it is still used in such a way as to be a menace.

But the science of medicine and surgery is a splendid exception. Here we see indeed a hundred years of purely beneficent activity, and in it we note with gratitude the guidance of God's wisdom and the enabling of His power.

TAMPERED WITH TYRE VALVES

LOITERER SENT TO PRISON

An offence termed by the Magistrate as meaner than theft was described in Mr. Schofield's Court this morning, when Inspector R. H. E. Marks charged a Chinese formerly employed as a car cleaner at the Dragon Garage at Happy Valley, with loitering.

Inspector Marks said that yesterday afternoon he had left his car parked between the Golf Club and the Civil Service Club, and on his return, at about 7.40 p.m. he attempted to start his car, but could not, on account of a flat tyre, as he thought. He got out and found not one, but both of his front tyres flat. A Chinese then came up to him and told him that there was a man standing under a tree who had been there for the last half-hour. Part of that time he had spent squatting by the car, but what he was doing the man who gave the information to the Inspector could not make out.

The information gave the Inspector an idea. He edged as close as he could to the man standing under the tree and then made a rush at him. On being seized, the man made a movement with his hand towards his pocket, but was prevented.

Searched at the Wanchai Station the prisoner was found to have a parcel containing a box of spare tyre valves, a safety pin, a clip, and a tyre pressure gauge. The Inspector examined his flat tyres and found that the valves had been interfered with, the springs having been so stretched as to render them useless. The valves were similar to those in the possession of the suspect.

After hearing the case, Mr. Schofield sentenced the prisoner to six weeks' hard labour without the option.

Considerable discussion has been aroused by the statement that a large number of distilleries in Scotland do not intend to open this season, owing to the existing large stocks in bond and the gradual decline in consumption, due to over-taxation. The con-

STREET COOLIES COMMENDED

FOR CATCHING CAR THIEF

Two street coolies were commended by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Police Court this morning for effecting the arrest of a thief who had stolen a clock from Mr. A. Stokkink's motor car which was parked outside the City Hall on Friday night.

The two men saw the defendant dismantle the clock from the car and, after seizing him, took him to the Police Station.

His Worship described their action as very good work and asked sumer of Scotch whisky, however, need feel no nervousness about the situation. He is now getting and will continue to get even finer whisky than in pre-war days. Unlike so many other products, of which there has been over-production, the stocks of whisky now in bond are getting better and better, as they age. Many of the Highland malt whiskies largely in the leading proprietary blends are now equivalent to fine liqueurs. Scotch whisky as shipped to China is now older and better than ever, and in 1933 will be older and better still.

FULL COURT HEARING

APPEAL ON MONEY JUDGMENT

At the Full Court on Thursday, an appeal will be heard against a judgment delivered by Mr. R. E. Lindell, acting Pulao Judge, in September last year.

The case was one in which Ghulam Hussain, 9, Pithem Street, Yammint, a tailor, claimed $324.21 money payable from Muhammad Nazir, regimental contractor, of Murray Barracks, to him for money paid by the plaintiff to one Ibrahim on April 8th, 1931, for the defendant at his request.

Judgment was given for the plaintiffs with costs, and leave to appeal granted.

TWO SOLDIERS

A terrifying experience befell a party of Chinese students who went hiking in the hills behind Kowloon Tong yesterday afternoon.

One of their number, a lad of eleven, was killed by a boulder which became dislodged on the hillside above them. Darkness fell upon before they could get clear of the hills and they were compelled to spend the night in the open with the body of their dead companion.

Fortunately, before darkness fell two soldiers of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders joined them, did their best to succour the victim, who did not die until some time after the accident, and kept the spirits of the boys up during the ordeal of waiting for daylight.

STRUCK ON HEAD.

The party started out at one o'clock yesterday afternoon and all went until about four o'clock when they had reached a path near Beacon Hill about a mile and a half from the Tai Po Road.

Without warning, a boulder dislodged somewhere above came crashing down the hillside and bouncing through the party struck Chau Kwok-ming, aged 11, on the head. He was rendered unconscious immediately and it was obvious that he was in a grave condition.

Two of the boys were told to go for assistance and after they had left, the attention of two soldiers, Ptes. Callaghan and Adams, who were also hiking in the district, was attracted.

SOLDIER'S EFFORT.

Callaghan and Adams climbed up the hill to the distressed youths and found Chau Kwok-ming with a fractured skull in a dying condition. They rendered first aid, but there was little hope for his life.

By this time, darkness was creeping down and it soon became impossible to move without the gravest danger of further tragedy. Callaghan carried the injured lad for two miles in semi-darkness. Vain efforts were made to get through, and finally it was decided that they must make themselves as comfortable as possible and resign themselves to a night in the hills. The boy died in Callaghan's arms in the early morning.

SEARCHES IN VAIN.

Meanwhile, the two boys who had gone for help reached Shamshui Police Station and went out later with police officers in search of their comrades in the belief that they could guide them. The effort was kept up until four o'clock this morning without success and an ambulance toured the vicinity until after one o'clock without seeing a sign of the missing party.

The search was resumed at day-break and again proved fruitless.

FIND THEIR OWN WAY BACK.

Shortly after noon to-day, the five boys, with their dead companion and the two soldiers themselves appeared at Shamshui Police Station.

One of the boys was sent to hospital suffering the most severely of the party from exposure and exhaustion.

BIG UNEMPLOYED CAMPAIGN

OF COMMONS

LONDON OCT. 23.

UP IN ARMS AGAINST THE APPLICATION OF THE MEANS TEST, THOUSANDS OF UNEMPLOYED HUNGER MARCHERS IN MANY PARTIES ARE CONVERGING UPON LONDON FROM VARIOUS PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

They are taking a leaf out of the book of the unemployed and the Bonus Marchers in the United States and they propose to picket the House of Commons until their demands are granted.

Mr. George Lansbury, during the discussion following the Westminster riots, gave warning that serious trouble was to be feared unless the hunger marchers were greeted with the announcement that the Means Test would be revoked.

Communist agents, who have already provoked serious disturbances in London, Liverpool and Birkenhead, are expected to make full use of the opportunity now provided for further agitation.

SURPRISE RECEPTION AT OXFORD

Some of the marching unemployed have yet arrived in London, but the first contingents are expected in the course of the next day or two. They are picking up fresh adherents as they go along and their numbers are certain to be swelled when they arrive in London by sympathisers in the ranks of London's unemployed.

OXFORD'S SURPRISE.

No untoward incident has occurred in the course of the marches of the various parties. On the contrary, they have met with a sympathetic reception in most towns through which they have passed.

An Oxford to-day, for instance, when a party of 240 men, who had walked all the way from Lancashire, arrived they were greeted by a committee from the University undergraduates and, somewhat to their surprise, were not only hospitably received, but were encouraged in their enterprise.

MEAL AND CONCERT.

Undergraduates of both sexes participated in the reception. The marchers were taken to a specially prepared hall, served with a hot meal, the undergraduates themselves waiting at table upon the unemployed.

PREFERENCES IN SOUTH AFRICA

GERMAN TREATY
AMENDED

Pretoria, Oct. 23. South Africa's commercial treaty with Germany, which caused much adverse comment when it was negotiated, is being amended as, from to-morrow in order to permit the Union to grant preferences to goods from the British Empire and mandated territories which Germany will not enjoy.—Reuter.

The wedding is to take place, at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Melbourne, on Wednesday, of Mr. Stanley I. Hill, M.I.N.A., Royal Corps of Naval Constructors, of the Hongkong Naval Yard, and Miss Amy Byrne, of Melbourne. The newly-wed couple intend to leave for Hongkong aboard the s.s. Nankin on November 1st.

After the visitors had been refreshed, a fresh surprise was provided by a University concert entertainment.

Finally, the marchers were provided with blankets for protection against the increasingly cold nights—the marchers have frequently had to sleep out of doors—and two new red banners.

The affair greatly impressed the marchers and they continued their trek in high good spirits.

CHAN MING-SHU FOR EUROPE

PASSES THROUGH COLONY

To avoid publicity, and travel incognito, General Chan Ming-shu, former Canton Military Governor and Minister of Communications of the Nanking Government, arrived quietly last night on the s.s. Coblenz from Shanghai and left this morning on the same boat for Manila and Germany.

The former Canton Governor was prominent in his organisation of the Shanghai defence as head of the Nineteenth Route Army early this year, and for this reason he travels incognito to avoid the numerous invitations from Chinese residents in the coastal ports.

Associates of the General in Hongkong state that his visit to Europe is for the purposes of a holiday and therefore has no political significance.

"DOUG" & "MARY" COMING

BOAT TO-MORROW

Douglas Fairbanks, accompanied by his wife, Mary Pickford, are arriving in Hongkong to-morrow by the M.M. liner, Andre Lebon.

It is understood that they will pick up a J.C.F.L. boat here, their next port of call being Batavia.

LAICHIKOK TRAGEDY

FOUND SHOT

Another shooting tragedy at the Laichikok Prison was revealed this morning when the body of Warder M. Friend was found in the bath room at the rear of the Single Men's Quarters with a bullet wound in the right temple.

The discovery was made early this morning when the officer failed to appear for his breakfast prior to going on duty. A "boy" went to the bath room to call his master but received no response and when the door was opened Warder Friend was found lying on the floor dressed in white shorts and slippers, wearing a pair of slippers.

REVOLVER BY SIDE.

The officer's own service revolver was found lying by him and a bullet wound in his right temple indicated that he had committed suicide.

Warder Friend was a young man of 35 years of age and had been in the Prison Department for nearly six years.

It appears to be an obvious case of suicide, the second at Laichikok less than two months. Warder Michael Rooney was found dead in somewhat similar circumstances on September 7 last.

LAICHOW FIGHTING

WITHDRAWAL OF GEN. HAN'S
RESIGNATION SOUGHT

Peking, Oct. 21. In spite of General Han Fuchai's resignation, which he ascribes to the realities of the situation, hostilities are still proceeding at Laichow.

ROBOT PLANE'S ATTACK ON RECORD

NONSTOP FLIGHT

CRACK FAIREY
MONOPLANE

(Our Own Correspondent).

London, Oct. 23.

Two spectacular flights from London to Capetown will take place early next month.

The Royal Air Force will attempt to wrest the long-distance nonstop flight record from the United States, while Mrs. Amy (Johnson) Mollison is reported to be preparing to eclipse her husband's record by flying the same machine that he used over the same difficult route down the west coast of Africa.

The greatest interest is, however, centred upon the Royal Air Force flight. This has been in project for nearly two years. First plans contemplated the attempt as far back as December last year, but for one reason or another, the start has been put off and put off until now.

LONG DELAY.

The long delay, of course, has merely meant that no tests or no experiments which would contribute to the certainty of success have been left unexplored.

Britain has been seeking the long-distance record for several years past and a machine, a Fairey monoplane, has been specially constructed with this sole end in view.

The determined attempt now being made threatens the record of John Polando, who flew from New York to within a few miles of Constantinople, a distance of over 5,000 miles.

PREVIOUS DISASTER.

Squadron-Leader Gayford and Flight Lieutenant Bell, who will have the handling of the Fairey monoplane, are hopeful of completing a flight of 6,000 miles.

The machine is almost identical with that used in 1929 in a previous attempt to reach Capetown by nonstop flight. That machine crashed in North Africa, striking a hillside in bad weather, both occupants being killed.

The new machine has a tremendous petrol-carrying capacity—about a thousand gallons—and it is fitted with a robot pilot, a device which will automatically fly the plane once the course has been set. This device will relieve the two airmen of a considerable amount of routine during the long flight, which may occupy about fifty hours.

Britain did once hold the long—

BIG RANSOM DEMAND

FOREIGNER HELD BY BANDITS

Y200,000 FOR HARBIN VICTIM

Harbin, Oct. 24.

The bandits who captured a European named Sherell de Florance on October 10 are reported to be demanding a ransom of two hundred thousand yen for his release.

According to Russian reports, many of the White Russians who have been kidnapped in the eastern section of the Chinese Eastern Railway in recent weeks, have been conveyed to Mulin and Mishan, where they are being forced to work on the construction of a road between the two cities, besides being unpaid and otherwise ill-treated.

Their captors are alleged to be bandits or anti-Manchukuo groups.—Reuter.

BIG FIGHTS IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Oct. 23.

The results of three big fights in last night's Anglo-American boxing at the Auditorium were as follows:

A. B. Warner, H.M.S. Hermes, drew with Bougiorni, of U. S. S. Houston, holder of welterweight championship of the U.S. Asiatic Fleet.

A. B. Farrar, of H.M.S. Hermes, won easily on points against Pape, of U. S. S. Houston, the featherweight champion of the U.S. Asiatic Fleet.

Jack Crelighton, late R.N., defeated Babe Russ on points.—Naval Wireless.

ARMED ROBBERY

RETIRED MERCHANT
GAGGED

Four men, armed with daggers, gained admittance to an unnumbered hut at Ngan Ching Wai village, Kowloon City, at 1 o'clock this morning when they stole money and jewellery to the total value of nearly $600.

Young Kun-ling, a retired merchant, together with other inmates, was bound and gagged. Three daggers were left behind by the robbers before they escaped.

A rather unusual case in which three women were alleged to have assaulted two men was heard by Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. Inspector Ellis, who prosecuted, said they all belonged to a gang of coolies engaged in construction work in Prince Edward Road. After hearing the facts, his Worship found over all the defendants in the sum of $25 for a year.

BITTER FIGHT ON GUNBOAT

NONNI RIVER CRAFT
ATTACKED

ENCOUNTER

Shanghai, Oct. 24.

Graphic details of a spectacular attempt to capture a Manchukuo gunboat and of fierce hand-to-hand fighting aboard the craft have been received from Changchun.

The gunboat concerned was the Lichi which was cruising in the upper reaches of the Nonni River on patrol duty watching for any movement of anti-Manchukuo forces.

The last thing expected aboard the gunboat was an attack from the water, but it suddenly found itself surrounded by dozens of small native craft, loaded with a band of anti-Manchukuo Volunteers (whom Japanese reports describe as bandits) who succeeded in boarding the gunboat despite the heavy fire poured into the small craft from the larger craft.

RAIDERS SWARM ABOARD.

The raiders swarmed aboard from a dozen different points, clambering up the sides and engaging those aboard in a furious hand-to-hand encounter.

The raiders had suffered many losses both in the initial onslaught and during the actual boarding of the Lichi, with the result that the sailors gradually obtained the upper hand and eventually compelled the invaders to withdraw.

They did not, however, retire without inflicting heavy casualties among the crew of the Lichi. Two officers and three ratings were killed outright and many others were wounded.

HASTY WITHDRAWAL.

MR. LOEW SAILS FOR JAPAN

BY AUTHORITIES

Shanghai, Oct. 24. A sensation has been created by the news that the Japanese authorities refused Mr. Arthur Loew and his companions flying the Spirit of Fun to fly to Japan. In consequence, the party left for Japan by ship yesterday afternoon.

Before sailing, Mr. Loew revealed that efforts were made to secure a permit prior to the departure from New York. The action of the Japanese authorities slows down his flying schedule.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

Perth, Oct. 24.

D.R. Jardine declared the M.C.C. innings closed at 334 for eight wickets, the score reached at the close of play on Friday.

In the period before lunch, West Australia compiled 58 runs for the loss of 2 wickets.—Reuter.

CONTRACT BRIDGE
By W. E. McKenney

The American Individual Masters' Tournament vividly brought home the fact that the one-over-one system is destined to become the standardised system of contract bridge bidding.

In this tournament, practically no other system than the one over one in its entirety was used. It is true that other systems employ the one bid from which this system gets its name, but experienced tournament players realize the many advantages this system has to offer.

One of the points where it differs from other systems is that in order to open the bidding first or second hand you must definitely have a re-bid. In third position, a player is allowed to use his judgment in opening the bidding—it may be with an extremely weak hand or with a strong one. A fourth hand bid requires about two and one-half quick tricks and support for the majors.

The following unusually interesting hand was played in the first session. The bidding at all but one table was South pass, West pass, North one diamond, East one heart.

South passed—even though he held two aces—due to the fact that his partner had made a third hand bid, which might be very weak, West passed.

North then bid two clubs. The showing of a second suit assured South that partner held a real hand. East passed and South then bid two spades which North carried to four.

The Play.

The opening lead in every case was the four of hearts, which was won by South, the declarer, with the ace. He immediately led the ten of clubs and here is where the interesting point came in.

If East wins the first club trick with the king, there is no possible way of stopping the declarer from making six odd. Some players made the mistake of taking the king of clubs.

Where East refused to take the king of clubs, it takes skillful play on the part of the declarer to make six odd. The hand must be played as follows:

The ace of diamonds and then the king of diamonds in dummy must be cashed. The ace and king of trump are led from dummy and the declarer gets a fortunate break when the queen and jack fall from the East hand.

His next play is a small diamond. East shows out, dropping a heart, and the declarer trumps and then leads the three of hearts, trumping in dummy with the ten of spades.

A small-diamond is then returned and trumped by declarer with the eight of spades. He leads the nine of spades, picking up West's seven, discarding the jack of clubs from dummy. East must now drop the ten of hearts.

Declarer then leads the seven of clubs, winning in dummy with the ace. He leads the ten of diamonds and East is forced to discard his king of hearts so as to win his only trick with the king of clubs.

LOCAL WEDDING.

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN DALL, an agent for cattle interests, faces ASPER DELO in his office in the city. Asper is accused by the cattle men of fattening on their range with his timber cutting. Hall accuses DeLo of crooked work at his Three Rivers camp. He accuses DeLo of having men shot who try to check up on him. Hall says he is going to make a check himself. DeLo retorts that he will personally see that Hall does not.

Heading before the office building, Stan Hall sees kidnapers slip a girl into a car. He catches the car and saves DONA DELO, Asper's daughter. When he learns who she is he slips away after telling her he is STANLEY BLACK.

DUDLEY WINTER, in love with Dona, agrees to get Asper DeLo back off his wild trip to Three Rivers if she will marry him. She gives him some encouragement.

CHAPTER III

Dona applied the brakes and pulled her trim roadster to a halt at the curb before a spacious apartment house. Without giving the early hour a thought she sent a raucous blast of the horn echoing through the maples that shaded the lower floors. She had only to signal once. A figure staggering under a load of khaki and leather appeared from the main entrance and moved down the walk. The pile of equipment reached the curb. There it erupted and Dudley Winters rose from its midst. He removed a soft felt hat and bowed.

"At your service, lady."

"What on earth have you there?" Dona gasped as she pointed a gloved finger toward the assortment scattered around Dudley.

"A sleeping bag, two guns, three fish rods, a camp outfit, two water bags, a collapsible canoe and several lesser items," Dudley surveyed the outfit proudly.

"And a bag of golf clubs!" Dona burst out laughing as she looked over the assortment.

"They aren't so uncivilized as to be without at least a nine hole course, are they?" Dudley grinned sheepishly.

"You can't take any of that junk," Dona was positive.

"But my friend Herman at the outfitters recommended this as the minimum of equipment," Dudley had enjoyed the selection of that outfit and was willing to defend it.

"Herman made you pay for routing him out of bed last night. All you need is the outfit clothes you're wearing and a suit case with a change of necessary things. You can get all the outdoor equipment you need at Three Rivers. Now hustle that stuff back and pack a few clothes," Dona was more than a little vexed now that she was over being amused.

Dudley sensed his mistake and gathered up his new possessions. He stowed the stuff away and came back on the run. Leaping over the door of the roadster, he slid into place beside Dona.

The car shot away from the curb and sped down the avenue. Dudley leaned back to drink in the fresh morning air. "Boy, it's great to be out and zipping along! Never know the mornings were so bracing," he shouted.

"You haven't seen the sun come up for a good many summers," Dona shouted back.

Dudley grinned and sank deep into the soft cushions. He was excited and willing to admit it. The mission they were on did not impress him as very serious. At first he had been impressed but after spending a night preparing for the trip he had discounted the danger. He fished for a cigarette and ducked his head low to light it.

Dona gave her attention to the road. She was an excellent driver though her slender shoulders seemed almost frail behind the big wheel. Her thoughts were not with Dudley. She was wondering if Stanley Black would call while she was away. Try as she would she could not put him out of her mind entirely. She was sure he was just another lonesome rider who had come into her life and gone on. She had known many such before her father had moved to the city but none had been so striking as Stanley Black. She had never felt any loss when they had ridden away.

The sun came up and the roads began to twist into the hills. Patches of purple sage showed among the bunch grass and far to the west a blue range of mountains marked the timber country. Dona set to wondering where Stanley Black rode and for what outfit. She knew that all the cow ranches had their men in the high country where their white faces were grazing in the forest reserve. Several outfits ran cattle near the timber grant on Three Rivers. There was the Bar B and the Blind River Outfit. Dudley broke into her reverie by demanding that they stop at a lunch room for coffee and rolls.

Noon found them speeding into a foothills village where they had lunch. The stop was only a half hour and then they were off again. Dudley had rolled down his sleeves but not before his arms had burned to a fiery red. He was still in a spirited mood whistling snatches of new songs into the teeth of the brisk wind.

By four o'clock they were deep into the broken country. The hills looked dry and hot but the valleys were green with irrigated ranches. Dona knew the road and did not have to ask at any of the cross-roads for information. The yellow dust had darkened their clothes and smudged their warm faces. Dudley had developed two little streaks from each side of his nose to the corners of his mouth and his hat was already taking on the appearance of a westerner's. Not once before in the three months since he had packed up and followed her home from school in the east had she seen him with so much as a smudge of dirt on his face.

Sundown found the dusty roadster pulling up beside a spacious log hotel. At the side and back of the building high corrals ranged and lean cayouges gazed sleepily out at the newcomers. Dona sighed peacefully and leaned back against the cushions. She was returning to her own and she liked it. In that moment she wondered why she wished to live in even a western city when she could have the outdoors for her own.

"Do we park here or do we unload?" Dudley pulled himself up stiffly and surveyed the scene. "And is this a hotel or a barn? The signs say it's a hotel but my nose says it's a barn." His grin was broad.

"This is Seth Doby's place and we'll camp here tonight," Dona pressed the horn and began dusting herself off.

A gaunt man of great height appeared in the doorway and clumped down the worn steps on badly run-over riding boots. His grey hair stood up in an unruly whirl and his beard was long and unkempt with suspicious streaks of brown in it. He wore a blouse of denim and faded overalls.

"Howdy, strangers. Want to hitch and come in?" He smiled and his watery blue eyes twinkled.

"We are stopping with you tonight," Dona answered with a rosy turning smile.

"Yes and eating, too," Dudley grinned.

Seth Doby carried their suitcases inside and deposited them in a ground floor room. He returned and motioned to a curl-cornered reglaser. "Slap your name and your wife's in the book while I yep for supper."

"We wish two rooms," Dona hastened to explain.

Old Seth grinned. "Right. Well, jest sign up." Without further words he recovered Dudley's suitcase and took it to another room.

Dona went to her room at once. She was soon splashing in a washpan of cool water and preparing to slip into a fresh dress. Outside the door she could hear Dudley demanding a bath.

"Ain't no such animal in this hotel," Seth Doby's voice boomed. "Where you headed for, stranger? There ain't no baths out in this dry country."

"I'm trailing a man named Asper DeLo. Has he been through here recently?" Dudley asked.

"Old Swede DeLo? Sure. Stayed here a couple of nights ago. Say, boy, I've known Swede DeLo for 30 years. Him and me had the dag-habest fight two humans ever had. Swede put me down for the count, too," Seth Doby laughed loudly.

Dona knew Doby did not recognize her as the freckled girl with the pigtail braid who used to ride with old Swede DeLo. Eastern finishing school had erased the marks of the range too thoroughly. As she stepped to the door Doby had his back toward her and he was absorbed in telling Dudley about Swede DeLo.

"Don't you make no mistake about that man, DeLo! He was the maddest I've ever seen him. Lowed as how he had been sittin' in an office until bow-legged cow hands thought they could come in and spit in his face. I figure he sure aims to be a meddler, or I don't know Swede DeLo." Doby stroked his beard.

"Is he thint bad?" Dudley asked seriously.

"Swede DeLo made his stake by fighting rustlers, lumberjacks and log jamba. He's hellion when he gets his ire up and he sure had it up when he went through here. I had a time getting him to bed down overnight with us."

Dona stepped forward and spoke smilingly. "Run along and wash up, Dad, while I talk to Mr. Doby."

Seth Doby looked sharply at the girl, then scratched his shaggy head. "You know me and I should know you, but I don't."

"I'm Dona DeLo. Pigtail D." Dona's white teeth shone.

"Well, dagnab it! Sure you are!" Doby held out a knotty hand. "Is Dad really on one of his benders?" Dona's blue eyes were troubled and her smile had faded.

Doby shook his head. "He sure is and I believe the old fool is getting a whackin' kick out of it. I tried to knock some sense into his head. Warned him plenty."

"You think he might be in danger?" Dona could not conceal her fear.

"He's in for a tough time. I know the man he aims to get." Doby's face sobered.

"Can't you go up with us?" Dona caught the old man's arm. "You used to be able to handle Dad."

Doby shook his head. "I'd do anything for you in remembrance of the days when you was Pigtail, though the city has shore taken the range scrub out of you, but this time I can't."

"Why?" Dona looked the old rancher in the eye evenly.

"Well, I don't figure Swede DeLo has lined out jest right this time and I told him so."

Dona nodded and her tone was cooler though her smile was wide. "But you will feed us with the same kind of steak you used to cook?"

"Sure! And I'll lend a hand, too, if I can." Seth Doby's honest face showed embarrassment and pain as he turned to the little dining room.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

If you want to make sure that you are going to see the mark give your shoes a second glance. The space just under the heel of these new brown kid shoes contains a long point of brown kid, set in to give added height and grace to the heel. The slippers, worn with a brown frock that features great white cuffs and a white collar, are decidedly attractive.

TO-DAY'S RECIPES.

Seasonable Sweets.

Fruit Sundaes.

These can be made with any fresh fruit in season. Use 1lb. fruit to 1/2 lb. castor sugar.

Prepare fruit, place alternate layers of fruit and sugar into a deep bowl; leave to stand overnight, so that the sugar will have formed into syrup.

Take some vanilla ice cream, place in a glass, then add a tablespoonful of the fruit and syrup and top with fresh whipped cream.

Thinned fruit will also answer the same purpose.

Melon Sherbet.

Half lb. of sugar, the juice of two lemons, the whites of two eggs, 1/2 pint of melon juice, one pint of water, a small quantity of gelatine.

Boil the water with the sugar, then add the gelatine, melted in cold water, the lemon juice, melon juice, and the beaten whites of the eggs. Whisk all together and serve cold.

Red Currant Mould.

Pick and wash about 1/2 lb. red currants, and sugar and cook well; when done strain through muslin. Mix a tablespoonful of cornflour into a paste with cold water; boil up juice, pour on to the cornflour, stir well. This will make a delicious sweet, containing all the goodness and flavour of the currants without the pips or skins. Serve with whipped cream.

Apple and Lemon Jelly.

Peel, core and quarter one pound of sound apples. Make a syrup with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, put in apples and simmer until soft, but not broken. Have a pint jelly made and partly set. When apples are cold, dust over with desiccated coconut and arrange in a glass dish. Now pour the partly-set jelly over and leave to set. Sprinkle the top lightly with the coconut before serving.

Compote of Apples.

Peel a pound of apples, cut in quarters and add them to a syrup made by melting a cup of sugar in half a cup of water. Add the rind of a lemon and a tablespoonful of rum. When cooked, lift the pieces of apple out, arrange in a silver dish and cover them with some finely-chopped candied peel. Pour the syrup round, add more rum if desired.

Apple Mousse.

Stew some apples in a very little water until tender, then pass through a sieve. Whisk after adding powdered sugar to taste. Allow the whites of three eggs for every six apples and whisk these; when stiff fold them into the puree, add lemon flavouring. Pile in a deep dish and serve with sponge fingers.

Fried Apples.

Peel and core some large apples and cut them into thick slices. Make a mixture of an ounce of butter, three ounces of sugar and the juice and grated rind of a lemon and fry the apples in it until tender. Garnish the slices with dabs of currant jelly or some preserved cherries and pour the frying mixture round.

COCO-NUT PYRAMIDS.

Half a pound of desiccated coconut, 1 1/2 oz. of cornflour, 4 ozs. of castor sugar, 3 whites of eggs.

Line a baking tin with a sheet of kitchen paper, and on this place a sheet of wafer or rice paper. Sieve the cornflour into a basin, add the sugar and coco-nut, beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and mix this carefully with the corn-flour mixture, kneading it if necessary.

Put the mixture in little pyramid shapes on the wafer paper about half an inch apart, and bake in slow oven from ten to fifteen minutes or until pale brown.

UNUSUAL TENNIS JUMPER.

SEEN AT THE PARIS DRESS SHOWS.

Backless pyjama-top blouse, made of wool but all frilly and fanciful, worn with tweed sports suits.

Wide stripes in graduating shades of red and brown used for three-quarters of a skirt, with the rest in dark brown to match the hips and the back of the bodice, the front of which was in an off-white crepe.

Two or three different materials in a single suit, also parti-coloured effects. Jumpers divided into quarters of different colours, like heraldic designs.

Many of the long coats have fur tops to the waist, or fur sleeves, and round shawl collars with loose ends buttoned over.

Hats seen in one collection have been inspired by mediaeval pictures. They are worn straight on the head, hiding the forehead, and include small, flat caps which look like mediaeval berets, hats suggestive of the Robin Hood shape, and hats with turned-up brims and metal trimmings.

Round Peter Pan collars of fur on coats. Now ermine plush used for short-sleeved jumpers worn under long coats.

A sports coat with sleeves cut on raglan lines, fastening at the neck and falling full and loose, is shown in several houses.

Hanks of plain knitting wool used for trimming. For instance, suit of black woollen material with a twisted hank of yellow wool as neckband.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1932.

HONGKONG AS A

A resident of many years' standing, in conversing on this subject recently, expressed the view that Hongkong is far behind the times in failing to make some organised effort to attract more visitors to the Colony in the cool season of the year. For example, there is Malaya, not many days' journey distant, where the problem of getting away for a change from the ever-present heat must always be cropping up. In these hard times, especially, people of the Straits Settlements and the F.M.S. who cannot afford to take Home leave might be easily persuaded to visit Hongkong if the fact were more widely known that the winter climate here is so delightful and that there are all manner of attractions to be found in the Colony, to say nothing of its magnificent scenic beauties. The gentleman we are quoting thinks that we might even go much further than that and, by judicious propaganda, endeavour to induce some of the wealthy people from Home, who make yearly trips to the Continent, Egypt, and India, to set a new fashion by coming out to Hongkong. He points out that, apart from the novelty of seeing the East, there is the additional attraction of excellent yachting, ample bathing facilities (the water seldom being colder here in the winter than it is in the summer in the Old Country), to say nothing of the wonderful golf course at Fanling, and outdoor sporting facilities generally. The further argument is put forward that the security enjoyed under the British flag in Hongkong, in contrast to conditions in some other parts of the East, is itself a further reason why Hongkong should come in for consideration by those who can afford to go abroad in order to escape the rigours of the English winter. There is, of course, no lack of travel services, either by way of Canada or Suez, and when the day comes, as it must, in which air services are made available, this Colony will be brought appreciably nearer to the Old Country.

Opinions may differ as to the prospects of inducing any considerable number of people to visit Hongkong from Home until aviation facilities are available, but there can be no questioning the wisdom of doing a little propaganda work in Malaya and the Far East generally. Individual visitors to this Colony are often amazed at the beauty of the place and its magnificent winter climate. These are assets which have never been adequately advertised. Yet in England we find municipalities setting aside regular sums every year for the purpose of attracting visitors to seaside and other resorts. If the Government here, in conjunction with some body such as the Chamber of Commerce, or even the various shipping lines, were to follow this lead, there is no doubt that Hongkong would in course of time become an extremely popular winter resort. People who come here would, of course, spend money, and this would be all to the good of the Colony. Is it too much to hope that some public-spirited individual or group of individuals will take this matter up, with a view to seeing what can be done?

The Great Egg Mystery.

Periodically, but not more than once in each epoch, a problem is propounded of such philosophic depth, of such far-reaching and unforeseeable consequences to humanity, that the world's greatest intellects feel irresistibly impelled to devote all their powers to its solution. In the morning of the world, it will be remembered, the question of Achilles and the tortoise was such a problem; in the later renaissance a similar speculation was provided by the mystery of the Mona Lisa's smile. Then it seemed the world lost its capacity for philosophic cogitation on matters as high as these. At any rate, no problem comparable with these earlier ones has been devised for many years past. But now happily this reproach is taken away from us. Once more on the philosophic plane we can look our ancestors in the face. It has now been proved beyond all dispute that the twentieth century can question the universe as profoundly as any of its predecessors. A correspondent of a famous newspaper has inquired

DAY BY DAY

THAN RICHES WITHOUT A MAN.—
Tennyson.

The Empress of Asia is due here from Shanghai at 7 a.m. on Wednesday.

In the estate of the late Mr. Rafael Echegoyen, merchant, late of Manila, who died intestate on November 9th, 1931, letters of administration have been granted to Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, solicitor, for the use and benefit of the widow, Mrs. Maria Cavanana de Echegoyen.

The weddings will take place shortly between Mr. Patrick Scully, ship's officer, of 3, Li Chi Street, Wanchai, and Miss Sin. Pat. of the same address; and Dr. Frank James Farr, medical practitioner, of Police Bungalow, Taipei, and Miss Dorothy Tyrell, of the Peninsula Hotel.

Our Shamen correspondent writes: The "Shoot-the-Bird Men" on Shamen must be having a pretty splendid time just now, judging from some of the bags one hears about. Bob Hill and one or two others, I hear, have found some particularly good spots where the birds are plentiful. Some of us would be glad to see the road opened up between here and Hongkong so that we could make quick trips down into the New Territories where, I understand, the snipe are very plentiful at this time.

why, when a cricket batsman fails to score, he is invariably described as having got a duck's egg. Why not, for example (and here perhaps a note of pathos is sounded), why not a hen's egg? Some people may be inclined to doubt whether the correspondent in question is justified, at the present time, in placing such a problem before the world. Admitting to the full its intellectual fascination, they may point out that that is precisely why it should not have been broached. Of course, statesmen and philosophers must discuss these pressing problems of reparations, war debts, conventions and conversations. But who can expect them to go on bothering about things like these now that there has been started a problem which involves in such equal and admirable measure sport, ornithology, philosophy and gastronomy? Nevertheless, we think that the question may be allowed. It is not as though our inquirer had rushed before the world with his problem without taking steps to solve it on his own account. Far from it. He declares that he has searched the Encyclopædia Britannica for enlightenment, but without result. It is irrational that the egg of a duck should be a term of opprobrium. Western civilisation has held the duck in high honour. One of Europe's greatest dramatists, if titles may be trusted, wrote a play about it. Its name is often a term of endearment. Or it may be a warning. Certainly the duck has contributed much to modern living, and is emphatically the sort of bird that should egg a man on to a century at the wicket, rather than in any way be connected with failure.

DISARMING IS THE

By Field-Marshal Sir W. R. ROBERTSON

ALTHOUGH the wish to escape from the burdens and dangers involved by the maintenance of great armaments was never so universal as it is to-day, any common agreement designed to give substantial effect to this wish must obviously be difficult to reach so long as the nations continue to regard each other as potential enemies rather than as effective friends whose interests are intimately and irrevocably bound up with their own.

Thanks to the closer intercourse of recent years, a more sensible and up-to-date spirit is gradually becoming manifest, but, being hampered by tradition and the jealousies and animosities left behind by the last war, its growth is bound to be slow.

Seven Lost Years.

Still, after making every allowance for these adverse conditions, we are surely entitled to be given something more encouraging than that provided in the "Resolution" adopted by the General Commission of the Disarmament Conference on July 23 last. This document winds up the first phase of the Conference which was called into being seven months ago for the purpose of considering the Report of the "Preparatory Commission" on Disarmament, which, in its turn, was set up as far back as 1925.

The "Resolution" therefore represents the results of seven years' investigation and discussion, and as such it can only be described as profoundly disappointing. In wording it is so abstruse that to most people it must be quite incomprehensible, and even those who have the patience to extract its terms from the mass of verbiage in which they are embedded will find them so indefinite as, practically, to commit nobody to anything. This at least is the case with respect to Land Armaments, with which the following observations are mainly intended to deal.

Excellent Principles.

The "Conclusions" contain some laudable recommendations with regard to Aerial and Chemical Warfare, but they are silent about Naval Armaments and contain nothing about Land Armaments, with the solitary exception of Heavy Artillery and Tanks. The former is to be limited both in number and calibre, but the limits are not given, and Tanks are to be limited to a maximum weight, but this again is not specified, and therefore the provisions are at present of no value.

Personally, I would place the weight limit of the Tanks as low as possible—that is, draw the line at the point where there is little to distinguish between Tanks properly so-called and the various vehicles which have some resemblance to Tanks but do not possess the same offensive qualities, such as Armoured Cars and Tractors.

Referring to the next or second phase of the Conference, the "Resolution" states that "A strict limitation and a real reduction of effectiveness shall be brought about."

This sounds very hopeful, but it entirely conceals the fact that this very thorny question, which always excites the most violent jealousies and mutual recriminations, has already been discussed at great length by a special Committee, which was eventually compelled to abandon its task because of the heated disagreements produced.

Finally, a limitation is to be put upon National Defence Expenditure, and a committee is to be appointed to study the regulations applied to the manufacture of and traffic in Armaments—both being subjects of a highly controversial kind and at present quite unsettled.

This completes, so far as land forces are concerned, the amount of progress made since the League of Nations formally declared, some 13 years ago, that the maintenance of peace requires "the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety."

Some excellent principles are repeated in the "Resolution," but there is not a single figure or other definite criterion to mark a concrete step forward in the desired direction of all-round disarmament. This absence of any indication as to the actual restrictions to be imposed is the more important because during the negotiation it was quite evident that some nations still obstinately insist upon limitation being placed at much too high a level to meet the object in view. Qualitative disarmament, or the attempt to decide what weapons are offensive—i.e., aggressive—and what defensive, is difficult enough in all conscience, and in many directions, is quite impracticable. Unless the restrictions imposed by it are sufficiently drastic, the whole idea becomes a farce.

It is time that there was some plain speaking on this matter.

Moreover, an impression prevails in certain quarters that the present Conference can confine its activities to Qualitative measures alone, leaving Quantitative limitation to some subsequent Conference. America, Germany, Italy, and many other countries have, however, plainly shown that they will not accept conclusions which do not comprise a measure of Quantitative disarmament also, and if nothing is done in this respect, more especially with regard to the limitation of effectiveness, there is no doubt that the Conference will be adjudged, and quite rightly, to have failed.

Not For The Soldier

During the next few months the "Bureau" of the Conference is to produce limitation figures for guns and tanks, and provide a scheme for limiting effectiveness. We must hope that this task will not be left entirely to departmental officials and military experts. That excellent has been tried already and it failed ignominiously. It is through any fault of the experts themselves, but because the questions put before them were fundamentally political in character and required to be dealt with by fully accredited political delegates. No real progress can be expected until there is a clearer recognition in practice that disarmament is essentially a political and not a technical problem.

The two main political questions are, of course, France's demand for security and Germany's demand for equality of treatment. Somehow a settlement of these two demands must be found and brought into relation with a third—the general demand for disarmament. The three postulates are antagonistic—actually so—but they should not prove irreconcilable, provided that a determined and capable influence can be brought to bear upon them, and whoever will assume this leadership will derive definite assistance from the fact that neither France nor Germany can afford to see the Conference fail.

British Government's Chance.

Horain lies a great opportunity for our own Government, but the extent to which it will be utilised will, as in all such cases, largely depend upon the amount of pressure exerted by public opinion, of which, after all, Cabinet Ministers are but the mouthpieces. The majority of men and women in this country have not yet quite appreciated the gravity of the issues which are at stake, and until they cast aside some of their indifference and display a keener interest in what is taking place, it is unlikely that their political representatives at Geneva will speak with that firmness and conviction which the situation requires.

ILLEGAL FERRY ALLEGED

JUNK TRANSPORT

Is a service run by a private body of persons an illegal ferry or is it not? This was the point around which revolved the case of Pang Sze-cheong, master of No. 506V, who was charged before the Hon. Comdr. Hole, at the Marine Court, with running an illegal ferry service.

Mr. F. H. Losby prosecuted on behalf of the Hongkong and Yau-mat Ferry Company, Ltd., while Mr. J. B. Prentiss appeared for accused.

Mr. Prentiss submitted he had no case to answer on the evidence heard last Monday. Commander Hole disagreed as according to law, any vessel running a scheduled journey between two points in the Colony was considered to be a ferry.

Mr. Prentiss submitted that the junk was really owned by an association, and that accused was a paid servant of that association. The junk was used for the carrying of pigwash, and only members of the association could use it for a small fee of six cents.

Mr. Losby said if people were allowed to travel on the junk it was considered a ferry.

Accused, in evidence, said the boat was run by an association of 200 members who subscribed $1 each and bought the boat. He knew all the members and their families. They netted a profit about $100 a month, and this was used up in paying the crew and the towing launch. If there was a loss the members subscribed, and if there was a balance on the profit the members divided it.

Mr. Losby submitted that if the accused was acquitted, any other body could organise and run such a service thereby constituting a danger to the existing ferry companies.

Comdr. Hole said that the accused had no case to answer on the evidence as the ferry was run by a private body and no outsiders were allowed to use it. He therefore dismissed the case.

JOYRIDERS SOON CAUGHT

FOUR YOUTHS CHARGED AT KOWLOON

Smart work by the Tsimshatsui Police led to the prompt arrest of four youths on Friday after a report that a car No. 258, belonging to Mr. John Cameron, of the Green Island Cement Co. was missing.

It was revealed at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning when the culprits were charged before Mr. Butters that Mr. Cameron left his car near the Star Theatre and found it missing when he went back at about 9.15 p.m. Police officers detailed to search caught the joyriders within half an hour of the report being made.

The first defendant, Kylan Lin, of Rangoon, said to be the leader of the gang, said the car was given to him by a man named Ah Yee. Opportunities were afforded him of finding this man, but he had been unable to do so.

The second and third defendants pleaded they knew nothing of the car, while the fourth said he paid for the petrol used for the ride.

Inspector Elston referred to the seriousness of the offence and said that 16 cars had been reported missing in Tsimshatsui alone since the beginning of the year. In most cases, the cars had been abandoned, but not before they had been more or less damaged. In this case, the mud-guard was damaged.

His Worship imposed a fine of $100 or two months on the first defendant, in addition to $5 for driving a car without lights, while the fourth was fined $10 for aiding and abetting. The other two were discharged.

FULL COURT HEARING

APPEAL ON MONEY JUDGMENT

At the Full Court on Thursday, an appeal will be heard against a judgment delivered by Mr. R. E. Lindell, acting Puisne Judge, in September last year.

The case was one in which Ghulam Hussain, 9, Pitham Street, Yaumati, a tailor, claimed $324.21 money payable from Mohamed Nazir, regimental contractor, of Murray Barracks, to him for money paid by the plaintiff to one Ibrahim on April 8th, 1931, for the defendant at his request.

Judgment was given for the plaintiff with costs, and leave to appeal granted.

AN INVASION OF WARSHIPS

U.S. ASIATIC FLEET COMING HERE

Within the next fortnight over a dozen foreign warships will invade Hongkong, the majority of them for a stay of at least a week.

On Tuesday next November 1 the U.S.S. Fulton, which has been assigned to South China, will arrive in port, and will be followed on Wednesday, November 2, by the U.S.S. Black Hawk, destroyer depot ship, and ten destroyers of the U.S. Asiatic Fleet. This flotilla will remain in port until November 9.

On November 2, the French cruiser Primauguet, the new flagship of the French squadron in China Waters, will arrive from Shanghai. The Primauguet arrived from France two or three months ago, but did not call at Hongkong on the outward voyage.

On November 12, the Commander-in-Chief of the U.S. Asiatic Fleet will arrive at Hongkong aboard the U.S.S. Houston, the flagship. Accompanying the Houston will be the Commander-in-Chief's yacht, the Isabel.

Movements of the warship of the British fleet have been altered slightly, and H.M.S. Bridgewater, which was due to arrive in port to-day, will not now arrive for some time. The Bridgewater is still at Chefoo, where she is being relieved by H.M.S. Sandwich, which it will be remembered, proceeded to Newchwang, in connection with the Mrs. Pawley bandit outrage.

The Hermes, which is due to arrive on Thursday or Friday, will remain in Eastern waters until relieved by H.M.S. Eagle early in May, 1933.

ALEKO LILIUS "WANTED"

WARRANT ISSUED FOR ARREST

Manila, Oct. 21. Aleko E. Lilius, journalist-adventurer, is charged with false pretences in a criminal complaint which was filed yesterday afternoon with the Court of First Instance by F. B. Albert, fifth assistant fiscal.

Lilius, who first came into Philippine limelight about three years ago when he arrived with stories of his adventures with Chinese pirates in Blas Bay, has appeared extensively in the public print lately for his attempts to locate Glenn W. Brophy, lost American aviator, who was supposed to be living in Yami Island.

In the complaint filed against him yesterday, he was accused of having swindled Robert L. Hobbs, owner of the Luneta Hotel, out of Pesos 3,089.86, by paying Hobbs with invalid cheques, and by cashing other cheques, with no funds on deposit. A warrant for his arrest was issued yesterday afternoon and this warrant may be turned over to the secret service to-day for the apprehension of Lilius.

Lilius has not yet returned to Manila from his trip to Yami Island where he went in quest of Brophy, aviator who was lost while attempting to make a solo flight from Hongkong to the Philippines. He is believed to be still in Baguio.

distance record—for a few hours. An attempt to reach India in 1927 ended by the plane coming down in the Persian Gulf. But it established a new distance record, only to have it broken a few hours later when Colonel Charles Lindbergh landed in Paris after his epoch-making flight across the Atlantic.

NEARLY THERE.

Later, the first Fairey monoplane was within sight of a record on a flight to India. After passing Kurachi, however, it ran into bad weather, was running short of petrol and the pilots turned back, the additional mileage covered not being allowed to count for the record. Had they been able to continue forward for another hour, they would have established a record.

Squadron Leader Gayford and Lieut. Bett are now thoroughly conversant with their machine and are coolly confident of success. They hope to start early next month.

Roosevelt had majorities in 41 states and commanding majorities in 39 of them. Hoover had only seven states in his column.

The count was: Roosevelt, 1,473,446; Hoover, 973,367. Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate, polled 127,235 votes. The percentage for the respective candidates was: Roosevelt, 56.30; Hoover, 37.19; Thomas, 4.69.

The grand total vote was 2,617,185.

FORMER GUARD GAOLED

EXPULSION ORDER TO FOLLOW

On the re-appearance before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Police Court this morning of Mewa Singh, a former Indian guard, on a charge of arriving in the Colony without a valid passport, Mr. T. Murphy (Assistant Director of Criminal Investigation), asked his Worship to pass sentence on the defendant and make an expulsion order.

The defendant asked to be allowed to remain in Hongkong for one month.

His Worship:—No, except in fact. The accused was sentenced to fourteen days' hard labour pending his expulsion.

NINE COOLIES FINED

CAUSING DAMAGE TO ROAD

Engaged in moving a 12 cwt. girder from the demolished sugar refinery at Taihook to a dumping site, nine coolies, coolies damaged the road at Shauiwan when they used crowbars to lever it along the ground on rollers.

When a police officer intervened, they made no excuse, but in Court this morning explained that carrying poles, used in the first instance, had broken under the weight and the girder had then become an obstruction on the roadway, which they were then doing their best to clear.

A fine of $5 each was inflicted.

A most enjoyable farewell dinner was held by the Matriculation boys of Wah Yan College at Lane Crawford's Restaurant on Saturday when a full attendance of masters including the Headmaster, Father Galagher, S.J., was present. During the course of the dinner, the Chairman, Mr. Chan Fook-hong, the spokesman of the class, expressed his thanks and gratitude to all the masters of the College and hoped that that night's meeting might be a link in a long chain of annual reunions when they would all come together and keep in contact with one another and with their old College.

In reply, the Headmaster and the other masters hoped that the boys would do very well in the coming examination.

Acting on information, the police stopped a man in Canton Road yesterday evening and in his socks found two forged Chartered Bank notes of $10 denominations. He was arrested and taken into custody. Charged before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, the man, named Wei Yau, pleaded guilty to possession of the notes, but stated he had no intention of uttering them. Sentence of four months' hard labour was passed.

PHILIPPINES' FUTURE

BORAH KEEN FOR INDEPENDENCE

Idaho Falls, Oct. 19. Expressing himself again in favour of early Philippine independence, Senator William E. Borah exclaimed here to-night that he "wished to God Dewey had never sailed into Manila Bay."

The Idaho Independent Republican, who is chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, discussed the question in reply to questions from the audience at a small informal gathering here. Earlier in the day he spoke at Shelly.

"Regardless of who gets the Philippines in the future I am willing for the United States to part company with them," said Borah. "I want to turn the islands loose as soon as I can do it."

WHOSE WIFE?

MAGISTRATE FACES PROBLEM

Something akin to the problem with which Solomon was confronted faced Mr. Schofield this morning, when he was asked to decide which of two men was the husband of a woman for whose possession they were found fighting at West Point.

"Do either of you claim this woman as your fat wife?" his Worship asked, in a moment of perplexity.

A chorus of denials was the response.

Asked to explain, the prosecuting Police Officer (Inspector McWalters) said that each had claimed the woman as his wife, but the woman declared that she belonged to neither. "I think they are both sweethearts of the woman," he suggested.

It transpires that when arrested neither of the men had any money, but that, on the other hand, the woman had $2.30.

His Worship bound over the men and discharged the woman with a caution.

FOR CATCHING CAR THIEF

Two street coolies were commended by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Police Court this morning for effecting the arrest of a thief who had stolen a clock from Mr. A. Stokkink's motor car which was parked outside the City Hall on Friday night.

The two men saw the defendant dismantle the clock from the car and, after seizing him, took him to the Police Station.

His Worship described their action as very good work and asked it be brought to the notice of the authorities.

The defendant, who had a previous conviction for theft, was given two months' hard labour.

BRITISH SHIPPING.

DECREASE SHOWN IN LAID UP TONNAGE

London, Oct. 22. The Chamber of Shipping reports that laid-up shipping in Britain and Ireland on October 1 totalled 2,182,000 tons, representing a decrease of 14,445 tons compared with the returns for July.—Reuter.

Considerable discussion has been aroused by the statement that a large number of distilleries in Scotland do not intend to open this season, owing to the existing large stocks in hand and the gradual decline in consumption, due to over-taxation. The consumer of Scotch whisky, however, need feel no nervousness about the situation. He is now getting and will continue to get even finer whisky than in pre-war days. Unlike so many other products, of which there has been over-production, the stocks of whisky now in bond are getting better and better, as they age. Many of the Highland malt whiskies largely in the leading proprietary blends are now equivalent to fine liquors. Scotch whisky as shipped to China is now older and better than ever, and in 1933 will be older and better still.

Under the auspices of the Police Branch of the H.K.W.C. and M.C.L., a mixed whist and bridge drive will be held at the Gymnasium, Police Headquarters, on Tuesday, November 1, at 8.30 p.m. Tickets, which may be obtained from members of the Committee or at the Police Recreation Club, are one dollar each.

Owing to the Lawn Tennis Interport dinner, which is being given in honour of the Shanghai team by the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association, the Management of the Peninsula Hotel advises that the usual dinner dance will not function in the Rose Room to-night.

SHANGHAI TENNIS VISITORS ACHIEVE AMBITION

HONGKONG BEATEN ON OWN COURTS IN THRILLING INTERPORT

DEBUT TRIUMPH FOR YOUTHFUL TSUI WAI PUI

(By "VERITAS".)

SHANGHAI 3 HONGKONG 2.

They are the bare figures which show the result the tennis Interport held over the week-end, but they give no idea of the fierce struggles, fluctuating fortunes, the magic of Gordon Lum and the wonderful come-back of the local players.

These must be told with proper attention to detail if they are to be fully realised and appreciated. It is fairly safe to say, as a preliminary, that Hongkong has never seen finer tennis than was displayed by the Shanghai visitors and our own players on Saturday and Sunday, and although Shanghai deservedly took back with them the trophy and with it the achievement of having beaten Hongkong on their own courts, a word of appreciation must be given the Colony's representatives for their great fight.

THE RESULTS.

Guy Cheng (Shanghai) beat E. C. Fincher, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.
Gordon Lum (Shanghai) beat S. A. Rumjahn, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.
Tsui Wai-pui (Hongkong) beat John Wade, 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.
John Wade and R. Canavarro (Shanghai) beat M. K. and M. W. Lo, 6-4, 5-7, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.
S. A. and H. D. Rumjahn beat Lum and Cheng (Shanghai) 9-7, 6-4, 8-6.

It was touch and go, for although by noon yesterday Shanghai found themselves three rubbers to the good and with the laurels already safely tucked away, they might, it fortune had determined otherwise, have been 2-1 down. The only match which they claim as being clear cut and decisive was Gordon Lum's victory against S. A. Rumjahn. Against this Hongkong had Tsui's brilliant win over Wade and the Rumjahn cousins' definite ascendancy over Cheng and Lum. The remaining two rubbers were terrific struggles, with Wade and Canavarro rather lucky victors against the Lo brothers and Cheng a worthy, but flattered winner against Fincher.

FINE OPENING VIVID DISPLAYS ON SATURDAY

A four struggle between Cheng and Fincher and a thrilling fight between the Lo brothers and Wade and Canavarro kept a big crowd on their tip toes throughout Saturday afternoon. Tennis alternating between brilliance and mediocre featured the afternoon's play, but taken on the whole the standard of play was well worthy of the occasion, with honours equally divided.

Fincher's defeat by Cheng, was, in some respects, just as astonishing as the Lo brother's recovery against Wade and Canavarro. When Fincher, winning the first set with a fair amount of ease, went on to claim a three-love lead in the second stanza, it appeared all over bar the shouting. He was then definitely in the ascendancy, exploiting his favourite net game with great success.

TRANSFORMATION.

Then came the transformation. His shots became slovenly, his approaches to the net ill-timed, and Cheng, taking full advantage of the metamorphosis, gradually developed into an attacking force. He brought into play his best ground strokes on other hand, and began to assert a real mastery over Fincher. Cheng passed Tsui with some dazzling backhand drives, and, relying almost exclusively on his ground strokes, plus clever variation in length and pace, piled on points after points. Fincher retreated to the baseline and attempted to get working his forehand drives, but he failed to control them, and Cheng just thrived on his blunders.

Frankly, whilst giving Cheng full value for his win, I must confess that he achieved it more on Fincher's errors than his own shots.

By these means Cheng won two sets straight off, and then began a four struggle. It says a lot for Fincher's fighting qualities that he returned, not only to the attack, but to win. He became more confident in his net work, although he displayed too much anxiety to reach this part of the court with the result that he was very often outpositioned. Nevertheless, by sheer will force and the employment of some beautiful strokes, Tsui saved the match until the fifth set.

WONDERFUL RHYTHM.

Then back came Cheng, drives flowing from his racket with wonderful rhythm. Tsui suddenly lost his head, threw all discretion to the winds, and hit out. It gave Cheng just the chance for which he was waiting. Carefully keeping the ball in play, he waited for the Hongkong skipper to lash out with forehand drives, and so piled up the points. Fincher lost numbers of points from these uncontrolled drives, and when Cheng had gone to 4-1, it was obvious that only a miracle could avert a Hongkong defeat.

The miracle did not materialise. Cheng went quietly, but serenely on his way, and eventually ran out an easy winner, the final scores reading 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1 in his favour.

I am sure that one of the most surprised men in Hongkong on Saturday was John Wade. He and Canavarro had won the first set against M. W. and M. K. Lo with such consummate, almost impudent ease, that all thoughts of the match going further than three sets must have been furthest from his mind. Yet an hour later he found himself and his partner down 2 sets to 1 and battling for dear life to avert defeat.

WADE'S ADMITTANCE.

Afterwards he told me that the fourth set was the hardest he had ever played, and I can well believe it. He also said that he never felt uneasy during the third set, because he was sure M. K. Lo would crack up; but M. K. Lo did not crack up. Rather did he return like a giant refreshed and put up one of the best displays of his career.

The Lo's were undoubtedly the heroes of the game on Saturday. They started shakily, and only by sheer concentration and will power did they stage their remarkable recovery. To them must go the credit for taking advantage of their opportunities. It was fairly discernible after the first set that Wade and Canavarro entertained no ideas of defeat, and they shuckened up in consequence. This gave the Lo's their chance which they readily accepted. M. W. Lo, driving magnificently and W. Lo, driving equally as effectively, volleying with unusual ability, took the war into the enemy's camp and held it there until the fourth set.

GALLANT LO BROTHERS.

During this period, M. W. reduced Canavarro's service to im-

A FAMILY SUCCESS

Father Wins Interport & Son His First Race

Whilst John L. Wade, the Shanghai skipper was leading his side to victory in the Tennis Interport this week-end, his son, Leslie, who is well known locally, achieved a great ambition by winning his first race at the Shanghai Race Meeting.

He brought his mount, Sonny Joy, past the winning post in great style, and afterwards secured third place in the Sceptre Chase.

potency. He drove at the Shanghai player's feet as he came into the net and beat him time and again. M. W. Lo's only weakness was overhand, but as, thanks to the mistaken tactics of the opposition, he was not given much of this to deal with, he was able to continue his effective work.

M. K. Lo demonstrated splendid retrieving powers, and lobbed consistently well. At the net he carried out volleying campaigns which nonplussed the Shanghai pair. An unsound right arm in the fourth set proved a big handicap to him and but for this I feel sure he and his brother would have won on Saturday.

The manner in which Wade and Canavarro allowed the game to slip from their grasp was in the main, I think due to over confidence, although Wade assures me that he was changing his game to suit the position. As a combination the two were never so impressive as their opponents, and individual brilliance at varying periods earned them the majority of their points. They were forced to go all out to save the game, and only managed to do this by breaking through service at the seventh game.

TIDE TURNS.

The tide turned in favour of Shanghai early Sunday morning when Wade and Canavarro polished off the deciding set against M. W. and M. K. Lo. This gave the visitors the much desired two-love advantage, and Lum, playing the game of his life, simply wiped Rumjahn off the court.

I have never seen finer tennis in Hongkong than the three matches yesterday, and it was no wonder that the huge crowd which filled the stands, crisscross and side lines, became vainly excited.

STYLE—Cheng at the finish of one of his stylish forehand drives. With this and other strokes he defeated E. C. Fincher in the first singles of the Interport series. (Photo: Ming Yuen).

Many were of the opinion that Rumjahn played below form in his singles, but I feel that he played as well as he possibly could under the circumstances. Lum was definitely superior, and he exerted his superiority to such an extent that he dominated Rumjahn. Lum brought into action all the attacking strokes within his knowledge—and they are pretty considerable. He whipped out stinging forehand drives which found the corners and forced "Sirdar" into defensive returns. "Weak on the backhand" said somebody before the game. Not a bit of it! Yesterday he was driving on the backhand with amazing skill and by his ground strokes provided for himself the openings sufficient to polish off the points.

UTTERLY HOPELESS POSITION.

Rumjahn was not entirely outplayed, but Lum always had one stroke better up his sleeve to finish off the rallies, and by these obtained the crucial points.

"Sirdar" fought strenuously, but I think he realised the utterly hopeless position he was in against such a player, and the fire gradually left his game until he was content to hold the rallies. An attempt in the early phases of the game to exploit a net attack was quickly set at naught by Lum, and once Rumjahn was on the baseline he was a defeated man. Lum won because he played one of the finest games of his career. There is nothing else to be said.

But after this came Hongkong to demonstrate that at least there were plenty of fighting qualities in the team.

WATER POLO

Y.M.C.A. Brilliantly Defeat Chinese

The Y.M.C.A. water polo team achieved one of their best feats of the season yesterday, when they visited the Chinese Bathing Club and defeated a combined Chinese team by three clear goals.

Schreuder led the "Y" forwards brilliantly, and his shooting fairly dazzled the Chinese. He was much too clever for the opposition and his leadership inspired the whole team into giving a fine account of themselves.

The "Y" have every reason to feel satisfied, being as they were, without Rasmussen, Fowler and Angus. Jenner, Jenkins and Witcomb depulsed and played a prominent part in the victory.

The Chinese were by no means outplayed, but even their strong combination could make no headway against the determined defence of the visitors, and they were always up against Schreuder, who was a brilliant leader. He netted twice and Longe added the third.

SHAMEEN LEAGUE FOOTBALL

SEAMEW OVERCOME THE CICALA

Shameen, Oct. 23. The Cicala and Seamew met yesterday in a League match which proved to be a fast and fairly even game in the first half. Seamew's defence as a whole played good football, the backs especially shining. Whilst the resulting scores gave Seamew the winning points towards the shield by a lead of three goals to one the win was by no means an easy one: Cicala's goalie brought off several brilliant saves, and he had no chance at all against shots which beat him; several of his saves in the second half were roundly applauded.

In the last quarter of an hour Seamew's forwards dominated the game and it was only by the stout efforts of the Cicala rearguard that further scoring was prevented. —Our Own Correspondent.

SHINING FORWARDS IN INTERPORT TRIAL

SELECTED TEAM PLAY WELL BUT OPPOSITION IS WEAK

CLUB BEAT KOWLOON IN POOR GAME

Without being very extended the Interport possibilities gave a good account of themselves against the Navy yesterday and won with ease. Stronger opposition, however, is needed to gain a true idea of the strength and weaknesses of the team.

League football on Saturday was rather featureless. The Club beat Kowloon in a poor game, and the Borderers somewhat luckily took two points from St. Joseph's. The Saints enjoyed most of the game, but were ineffective in front of goal.

Williams achieved the personal triumph of netting all five goals for the Club reserves against Eastern, and A. M. Omar bagged four of St. Joseph's eleven against Taikoo.

CLUB DEFEAT KOWLOON

KEEN GAME BUT VERY RAGGED

(By "Wanderer".)

Hongkong F.C. 3 Kowloon F.C. 0

The Club have some reason to be elated at their success over Kowloon. It happened to be the first victory they have recorded against the mainlanders for several seasons, and furthermore, it was fully merited. In the wider aspect, however, they should not feel too satisfied. If they looked like a good team, the feeble display put up by the opposition had more than a little to do with it. Certainly there was nothing in their methods, individually or collectively, to suggest that the team is likely to make Club history in this season of local soccer.

It was a keen contest but very ragged. Kowloon were again hopelessly disjointed and pointedly weak in at least five positions. No understanding existed between any department. The backs, in their obvious lack of experience, despite promising qualities, failed to cover the men in front of them, or each other. The procedure, if it may so be termed, was simply that of the backs awaiting the result of the conflict between the half-backs and the opposing forwards and when the Club attack had wiled its way through as, of course, it usually did, Whips and Wells would begin to shape and battle. It only needed the half-backs to adopt the same aloof tactics and the defeat would have been a rout. But this crowning error was not permitted. McKelvie and Bliss have played a trifle too long for that. Naturally, the halves were harassed beyond their powers, could not support their forwards adequately, passes went sadly astray because they were usually made hurriedly, and the problem was immensely simplified for the Club defenders.

I have said little about the forwards. The Club front rank was superior without being strikingly impressive. After Dominy had scored the first goal, he was scarcely seen again. Howe, who led the line skilfully, cannot himself explain how he missed two open goals. Young Strange was outstanding, playing with a rare confidence, quickly getting the measure of Palmer, Kowloon's right-half, who faded right out after a very promising start, and adroitly changing the point of attack with well-considered passes. Two brilliant drives of his deserved better fortune than to miss the post by inches. He scored the third goal after a clever run, Wells putting his foot out to deflect the ball still further out of Gurevitch's reach.

KOWLOON'S NEED.

Kowloon's line is sadly lacking a schemer in one of the inside positions. There is no-one there to shape the attack, no-one to weld the line together, to manoeuvre openings. The forwards, in consequence, play as so many units. Hill gave an improved display, falling away in the second half, possibly discouraged by the ineptitude of Phillips. How Kowloon must be sighing for a Grimwood!

Both first half goals were in the nature of gifts. Bliss robbed Wells of a clear punt and deflected the ball to Dominy who netted from an acute angle. Gurevitch was palpably at fault with the second. Howe was standing unmarked in the goalmouth about five feet out when Fowler's centre swung across. The ball should never have been allowed to reach Howe, but it was and he poked it through with his nose! Gurevitch redeemed himself with some first-class saves in the second half.

INCOGNITOS ON TOP

MAMAK SHIELD HOLDERS NET 8 MORE

FRIENDLY GAMES

(By "Bully Off".)

By defeating the University by the narrow margin of one goal to nil the Incognitos regain their position at the head of the league table with St. Andrew's. Both teams have played four matches all of which they have won and the goal analysis of the two clubs to-date are: Incognitos, 15 for and 4 against; St. Andrew's 19 for and 4 against.

Other winners in the competition during the week-end were the Police, who gained two points from the Kowloon Indians with a score of 3-1; and the Radio Club, who defeated H.M.S. Wishart, one of the strongest of the naval units by eight goals to nil.

POLICE AGAIN.

Playing on the Marina ground yesterday afternoon, the Police won their third successive game by defeating the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club by three goals to one. The losers have yet to win a match in the tournament. The Police had most of the game and were far superior. At the interval they had a lead of two goals to one adding their third in the second half. The scorers for the Police were Pennell (2) and Blackburn.

INCOGS SURPRISED.

The Incognitos met with sturdy opposition when the encountered the University on the Marina ground yesterday morning, and a fast and evenly contested game resulted in a win for the Incogs by the only goal scored.

The steadiness of the Incognitos' defenders was responsible for keeping the "Varsity forwards" at bay and but for this they would have netted on more than one occasion. The pick of the half-lines were the Reed brothers, the Incogs who spotted many of the attacks of the opposing forwards, prominent among whom were Souza, Roy and Stephen Reed, A. M. Rodrigues and Bato, the "Varsity backs, impressed and held their goal intact until after the interval when the only goal was netted from a melee in front of goal.

RADIO SCORE EIGHT.

H.M.S. Wishart, one of the strongest of the Naval teams, were defeated to the tune of eight goals to nil when they were opposed to the Radio Sports Club on Saturday. The heavy scoring may be credited to the splendid stick-work of the Radio inside forwards, Gurbachan Singh, in the centre, claiming four, his performance including the "hat-trick." The Radio defence had little to do except when there was an occasional burst by the Naval forwards—but these were few and far between. In the first half, Awtar Singh netted three while Gurbachan Singh scored the fourth.

After the interval, Gurbachan Singh did the "hat-trick" and Awtar Singh added the eighth before the final whistle.

St. Andrew's v. Jata.

St. Andrew's Club were opposed to a strong combination of the Headquarters wing of the Jat Regiment on Saturday and after a game in which the Indians were continually on the offensive honours were even, each side netting three times. St. Andrew's, who were without some of their best players did well to hold the Jata to a draw. Abdul Jalil was a tower of strength in the Jat attack, while Sirdar, Khari in the centre of the intermediate line was responsible for strengthening many attacks by the civilians.

FLYERS COME AND GO IN UNIQUE TOUR

Just when everyone at Kai Tak had given up hopes of their arrival, the three intrepid aviators who are making a world flight in the "Spirit of Fun" swooped down on Hongkong on Saturday afternoon, and made a perfect landing at 2.45 p.m., running 24 hours ahead of their schedule.

The crowd, which had collected in the morning in anticipation of the arrival of the plane from Hanoi at 10 a.m., had dwindled and Mr. Arthur M. Loew, first Vice-President of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who has chosen this method of reaching the international offices of his far-flung organisation, was greeted by only half-a-dozen officials and one lone press representative.

The machine left again early yesterday morning and a Reuter message reports their arrival at Shanghai at 11.30 a.m.

Immediately upon arrival, Mr. Loew and his fellow-traveller, Mr. Joseph Roththal, were whisked away to the Peninsula Hotel for a much-needed rest, while the pilot, Capt. James B. Dickson, made re-fuelling arrangements for the flight to Shanghai.

The aviators were astride long before daybreak yesterday morning, and just as the sun came over the horizon the giant monoplane was wheeled out of the hangar, a few hurried farewells were taken while the engine was warming up; then, taxiing across the aerodrome, the "Spirit of Fun" rose into the air, and within a few minutes had disappeared over Lyceum Pass, en route to Shanghai, where the aviators expected to arrive at 10 a.m. yesterday.

The flight to Shanghai is a race against time, for, unable to obtain permission from the Japanese authorities to fly to Tokyo, Mr. Loew is endeavouring to reach Shanghai in time to connect with the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, which was due to leave the northern port at 11 a.m. yesterday. Mr. Loew will spend three days in Japan, visiting the various centres of his organisation, and will then return to Shanghai to continue his record-breaking flight across the six continents of the world, a flight he hopes to complete within the current year.

From Shanghai, Mr. Loew and his two companions will retrace their route to Hongkong and Hanoi, and from the latter place will endeavour to fly non-stop to Calcutta, a distance of 1,400 miles. They will proceed to Johannesburg, and if possible will then attack the record made by Mr. J. Mollison for a flight between South Africa and England.

Accompanying Mr. Loew on the world flight is Mr. Joseph Roththal, his friend and legal adviser.

Mr. Loew is co-pilot of the machine, although Capt. Dickson, who has flown the "Spirit of Fun" for the past two years, is the chief pilot. Both Mr. Loew and Capt. Dickson joined the U.S. Flying Corps after the Great War, and Capt. Dickson already has over 2,700 flying hours to his credit.

Record-Breaking Plane:

The "Spirit of Fun," the plane in which they are making their unprecedented dash, is owned by the Hal Hal Roach Studios, and has been lent for the occasion. It is one of the fastest passenger planes in the air, and is capable of a cruising speed of 180 and a top speed of 220 m.p.h. The plane can carry six persons, including the pilot, and, in addition, has a full length bed for the comfort of the passengers.

The landing gear of the "Spirit of Fun" disappears into the wings during flight, adding considerably to the speed and stream-lining of the plane.

The "Spirit of Fun" has already made a 17,000 miles tour of South America, visiting all the important capitals, and has broken the existing records over every single flight made in the southern continent of America. It also holds the record from Chicago to New York and the westbound record from Kansas City to Albuquerque. Capt. Dickson, who has piloted the speedy plane since it was purchased two years ago, is proud of the fact that he has landed on schedule in 400 cities in every state of the United States.

COWBOY FILM STAR HURT WHEN HORSE STUMBLES

Hollywood, Oct. 23. The famous cowboy film star Tom Mix sustained concussion today while filming a typically dare-devil episode.

MR. CORKRAN TELLS OF A NEAR RESCUE

Newchwang, Oct. 23.

Looking pale, and walking with a slight limp, Mr. Charles Corkran left for Mukden to-day to report to his firm the uncontrollable circumstances which accounted for his absence from duty.

Interviewed by Reuter to-day, Mr. Corkran revealed that he and Mrs. Pawley were within an ace of being rescued five days after they were captured. On the approach of some Manchukuo soldiers, who enquired of the bandits if they had seen the captives, the bandit chief, Pei Pal-tien, who had hurriedly donned the captive's clothes, directed them in a southerly direction.

When the troops were out of sight, he hurried the captives northward. Neither had a chance to escape, as they were compelled to lie down in a ditch with revolvers pressed to their sides.

"On the whole, the bandits were not bad fellows, although some of them were brutal."

The Government's Thanks.

London, Oct. 22.

The British Government have conveyed their warm thanks to the Japanese Government for the successful assistance rendered them and their representatives in obtaining the release from the Manchurian bandits of Mrs. Pawley and Mr. Corkran.

British Consular Officers at Mukden and Newchwang have also been instructed to thank all those on the spot who collaborated in this task.—British Wireless.

Mrs. Pawley Leave For Japan

Newchwang, Oct. 23.

Mrs. Muriel Pawley, accompanied by her husband and parents, left for Dairen yesterday afternoon en route for Hoshigaura, where she will recuperate her health. Life here since her return has proved too fatiguing, as she has had to pose for photographers and give receptions to pressmen to answer unabated enquiries.

On returning to Tientsin, where her husband is connected with the A. P. C., she will stay with friends so as to avoid leaving her alone when her husband is at office.

A thanksgiving service will be held at the Newchwang church on Sunday. It appears that no ransom was paid to the bandits whom the Japanese intermediaries gave only winter clothing and other gifts. The bandits apparently felt that to hold their captives any longer would only spell their own doom.—Reuter's Reuter.

SERIOUS FRACAS

COOLIE DANGEROUSLY INJURED

Riotous scenes occurred in Connaught Road Central last night when two gangs of coolies savagely attacked each other with sticks and bamboo poles. One man was fatally injured in the melee and several were arrested.

At 6 p.m. the work of unloading vegetables from the Ching Fat, lying by the Kwong Wing wharf, was proceeding steadily, when suddenly a man's scream rose above the babble of the workers. The foreman of the wharf coolies had discovered a street coolie stealing vegetables.

According to statements made to the police, the wharf foreman seized the thief and was leading him to the police station when a gang of the prisoner's friends rushed to the rescue. The foreman was surrounded in a minute but he, too, had friends and in a few seconds a furious battle was raging.

Bamboo poles were waved in the air and brought down hard whenever a suitable target offered. Moveable articles on the wharf were seized and flung about indiscriminately.

Tong Tsat, the coolie who is alleged to have stolen the vegetables, fared worst. He received serious head injuries when a terrific blow laid him unconscious on the wharf. The sudden shout of "Police" caused a wild scatter. Most of the combatants escaped but several were arrested.

Police inquiries were made last night by Inspector J. Murphy who is in charge of the case, and Detective Sergeant J. Allen.

Tong Tsat was taken to the Government Civil Hospital where he is in a dangerous condition. An operation was being performed in a last effort to save his life.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Probation after death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 23rd.

The Golden Text was: "Behold, now is the day of salvation." (11 Cor. 6: 2.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept. For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death." (1 Cor. 15: 19-21, 26.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If man is never to overcome death, why do the Scriptures say, 'The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death'? The tenor of the Word shows that we shall obtain the victory over death in proportion as we overcome sin." (P. 427: 17-21.)

SHANGTUNG WAR

HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT OF TROUBLE SHATTERED

Nanking, Oct. 22. Hopes of a peaceful settlement of the Shantung affair have again been shattered, following upon receipt of reports that Han Fu-chu had launched a fierce artillery attack on Laichow, where Liu Chien-nien and several thousands of his troops had been bottled up.

It was announced from Peking only to-day that Han Fu-chu had resigned the Governorship of Shantung, it being generally believed that his action was due to his inability to accept Nanking's orders to withdraw his troops to their original defence area.

Han Fu-chu's resignation was obviously a polite form of refusal of the terms of settlement decreed by the Central Authorities.—Reuter.

CHILE RECOGNISED.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN RELATIONS CORDIAL

London, Oct. 22. Sir H. Chilton, British Ambassador at Santiago, yesterday handed Notes to the Chilean Foreign Minister stating that the Governments in the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand and Canada were happy to enter into official relations with the Chilean Government as at present constituted.

A similar Note was also presented by United States Ambassador. The present Chilean Government came into power on September 15 when Senor Davila was replaced.—British Wireless.

SUBMARINE FLOTILLA.

H.M.S. MEDWAY RETURNS TO HONGKONG

In brilliant sunshine, H.M.S. Medway, accompanied by the submarine flotilla, steamed into harbour at 8 a.m. yesterday, returning from her six-months summer cruise to Wei-hai-wei.

Accompanying the Medway were the submarines Osiris, Orpheus, Odin, and Otus, the Pandora and Proteus having arrived on Saturday afternoon.

The arrival of H.M.S. Bridge-water to-day and of H.M.S. Cumberland to-morrow will practically see the completion of the return of the whole of the China Squadron, nominally stationed at Hongkong, from Summer exercises.

H.M.S. Cumberland will not, however, remain in Hongkong, but will make her departure at the end of the month for Home, where she will re-commission.

H.M.S. Hermes, the aircraft carrier, will arrive on October 31, and will be followed by H.M.S. Kent on November 10. The Hermes will only remain in port for a few weeks and will then depart for England for re-fit. She will be relieved in Eastern waters by H.M.S. Eagle, which is due to arrive early in January.

Replacing Aircraft.

It is understood that the Hermes is to have the aircraft at present on board entirely replaced by new types. At present she carries Flycatcher fighters and Fairey IIIF reconnaissance machines. These are in process of replacement by the Nimrod and the Osprey, the naval developments of the Hawker Hornet and Hawker Hart, and with which the Hermes will be duly equipped.

The aircraft carrier Eagle, which relieves the Hermes in Eastern waters, is at present under repair at Devonport.

The senior R.A.F. officer in the Hermes, Wing Commander A. W. F. Glenn, M.C., D.F.C., is one of the few holding such a position who were formerly in the R.F.C.

Usually the senior officers in the carriers have come from the R.N.A.S. side of the R.A.F., but the official policy has been to discourage the division of the Force into compartments, the aim being that an officer should be capable of flying any type anywhere.

BRILLIANT FUNCTION.

RE-OPENING OF HONGKONG HOTEL ROOF GARDEN

Over 400 guests were present at the Hongkong Hotel on Saturday night on the occasion of the re-opening of the popular Roof Garden there.

Something entirely new in social entertainment was provided by the management for the occasion, the function being termed an "Oriental Night." A truly exotic Eastern atmosphere was provided by the decorations and the costumes of the attendants, and without doubt the cabaret setting and programme were enjoyed by everyone present.

Dancing was carried on throughout the evening until after 1 a.m., the new dance orchestra, "The Revellers," provided the music. In addition to the "Revellers," who incidentally promise to become one of the most popular dance bands in the Colony, music was provided for the waiters by Joe Futera's popular band.

Interspersed between the dances were several items by Mr. Martin Cave, the "Second Al Jolson," whose numbers, rendered in the true Jolsonian manner, were vociferously encored. The famous Joy Fun Toy Company left the spectators breathless with the magic of their several acts, the cream of their recent performances at the King's Theatre.

Mr. Martin Cave received such a popular welcome from the audience on Saturday night that the Hotel has decided to retain his services for future tea dances. Singing in conjunction with the "Revellers," this artist promises to become one of the triumphs of the forthcoming winter season in Hongkong.

Mortgages on Real Estate held by Company Dec. 31, 1931 .. $5,971,209
Total Debenture issue Dec. 31, 1931 4,840,700 by which it will be noted that all of the proceeds from Debentures are invested in Mortgages and $1,131,500 of the Company's capital.

In the past twenty years the Company has negotiated more than one hundred million Taels in mortgages, all of which has been repaid, principal with interest.

The following extracts are taken from the Chairman's statement at the last annual Shareholders Meeting, February 20th, 1932.

"We feel that the Debenture holder from an investment standpoint, is just as much an interested partner of the Company as the Common Shareholder and is entitled to his just return on his investment, and by the figures given on the two years' working, I think we have amply proven that we were right that our Debenture holders receive eight per cent. interest instead of six per cent."

"The most successful concerns of the future will be those who recognize this principle—that even banks will allocate to depositors a part of profits earned on their money over and above current rates of interests. As our balance sheets show quite plainly the proceeds from the sale of our debentures is not used for the purchase of Real Estate, as we are not speculators, but for investment in first class mortgages, amply secured not only by the value of the property pledged as security, but as a further security the debentures constitute a first claim on the total assets of the Company. An analysis of the figures involved shows that every debenture has behind it assets equal to three times its value."

"If after careful consideration of actual facts and figures you are receiving less than 8% upon your investments and/or savings, you are not using judgment but following old customs, believing 5% and 6% are current rates."

COMPARISON

Mortgage Department, 1930-1931

Year	Amount	Market Value of Property	% Value loaned	Average Interest rate	Average Commission %	Excess Interest over 8%	Amount Commission Earned
1930	10,052,040	$18,662,000	54%	9.18%	1.215%	$118,614	$122,316
1931	19,194,867	34,075,565	56%	9.33%	0.765%	255,291	146,825
						$373,905	$269,141
							373,905

Earned above 8% paid to Debenture holders—$643,046

Of the above mortgages, there was assigned to investors:

1930 .. $6,532,660.00
1931 .. $13,223,545.00

A lower rate of commission existed in 1931 due to cheap money for the greater part of the year, from September, money commenced to tighten up. As it is we earned 1.33% interest in excess of 8% paid on our Debentures, in addition to $146,825 commissions. From the above it will be seen that our 8% Debentures are secured by first mortgages on 56.4% of value and backed up with $5,000,000 capital.

PIRATES CAUGHT

SEQUEL TO COUP ON THE S.S. HELIKON

Canton, Oct. 23. Much interest is attached to a report from Swabius stating that a portion of the gang responsible for the recent piracy of the Chinese-owned, a.s. Helikon, a Hongkong-Saigon passenger and cargo steamer, has been arrested by marines from Chinese gunboats.

The alleged pirates were removing their booty, looted from the Helikon, to Keishai, a coastal port some thirty miles east of Honghai Bay, when their fishing junk encountered a Chinese gunboat.

The presence of the cargo on the junk attracted the marines' attention and they ordered a search. The alleged pirates were immediately subjected to a close examination and these men, together with the cargo, have since been detained pending the arrival of officers of the a.s. Helikon and the responsible Police officials to identify them.

The Helikon, owned by the Woo Fat Shing Company of Hongkong, was seized by pirates and held for forty-five hours. She returned to Hongkong on October 14. The steamer was looted and four Chinese passengers were taken for ransom.

COMMUNIST REIGN

RED AGITATORS ACTIVE IN MANCHURIA

Harbin, Oct. 23. According to the Russian press the movement of Chinese refugees in the Antachan districts has taken on a Communist character and the leaders are recruiting farm labourers for the Red Spears and Big Swords, making use of such slogans as "Join up with the People's Army, the Defenders of the Oppressed Workers."

All the villages are being systematically subjected to propaganda by professional agitators whose main plank is: "Two cows and two pigs and no more for each family."

The agitators and detachment commanders are requisitioning grain, foodstuffs and livestock, and the terrorised farmers are quitting their homesteads.—Reuter.

COTTON DISPUTE

MILLS TO RE-OPEN THIS MORNING

London, Oct. 23. The cotton spinning dispute has been settled on the basis of a wage reduction of 1s. 6d. in the pound, dating from the 31st inst. The mills which have been lying idle on account of the strike will re-open on Monday.—Reuter.

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Forty of the prettiest girls in Hollywood appear with the ravishing Ann Pennington in an extravagant sequence of "Is Everybody Happy?" the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production, starring Ted Lewis, which comes to the Queen's Theatre shortly. Ann is seen on the stage of a theatre as a member of the "Polles," singing a lilting song about the glories of Samson, and then going into an Hawaiian dance which represents the proverbial last word in graceful gyrations. And the forty chorus maidens, dressed in exotic costumes of scant, though pleasing design, furnish a stage picture of particular beauty. These girls were trained for "Is Everybody Happy?" by Larry Coballes, head of the ballet department of Warner Bros. and a dance producer who has for many years been recognized as a leader in his profession.

In "Is Everybody Happy?" Ted Lewis, popular and talented musician of vaudeville fame, makes his debut as a talking motion star. The picture is filled with singing, dancing, pretty girls and the entrancing music of Ted's own band. Assisting him in the cast besides Miss Pennington, are Alice Day, Julia Swayne Gordon, Lawrence Grant and Purnell Pratt. Archie L. Mayo directed and the screen story was written by Joseph Jackson and James A. Starr.

"Aren't We All?"

Hugh Wakefield, who is lending his brilliant acting ability to the film "Aren't We All?", is one of the best of the country. He was one of the most daring pilots in the Royal Air Force during the war, and his skill as a stunt flier gained him a great reputation for daring and efficiency. It is not generally known that he was the originator of one of the most spectacular and dangerous stunts used in the war. This is the now famous "Falling Leaf" manoeuvre, which got his name from the resemblance of the aeroplane to a falling leaf as it twists down from the tree. In "Aren't We All?" Hugh Wakefield takes the part of Lord Grenham, a role that is rich in humour.

Hugh Wakefield made his first appearance on the stage at the age of ten at the St. James' Theatre in "The Days of Old." He played a number of other child parts in successful productions, including "Shook-headed Peter" and "Bluebell in Fairyland." In 1910 he appeared as Lord Fancourt Babbler in "Charley's Aunt." After his war service in the Royal Air Force—he retired in 1920 with the rank of Major—he returned to the stage with a role in "London, Paris and New York" at the London Pavilion. One of his greatest successes was as Count Hubert de Lincoourt in "Blue-beard's Eighth Wife," which ran for over a year. "Aren't We All?" is showing at the King's Theatre to-day.

"To-morrow and To-morrow."

"To-morrow and To-morrow," Philip Barry's play of a courageous, unconventional wife to whom marriage is not sufficiently soul-satisfying, is the latest starring film vehicle for Ruth Chatterton, recently completed at Paramount's west coast studios. This philosophical, yet clearly understandable emotional drama is the stand-alone emotional drama in the King's Theatre's feature, beginning Thursday next. Paul Lukas supports Miss Chatterton in the featured male lead. The play, the latest by the author of more than ten recent Broadway successes, enjoyed a long run in

RICE MONOPOLY

EMPIRE PRODUCT TO BE MILLED IN LONDON

London, Oct. 22. With the object of securing for Empire rice-growing the monopoly which foreign rice has hitherto obtained in Britain, a large and most modern rice mill will be erected near the Thames by a group of London business men, working in conjunction with a group of Burma rice-millers.

The scheme is regarded as an outcome of the Ottawa Agreements, under which a penny per pound duty is imposed on foreign rice.

It is hoped that the products of the mill will be on the market by the end of February.

The wholesale price will be about 51s. 10s. a ton, whereas Spanish rice, plus the new duty will cost the distributor about 42s.—Reuter.

BRITISH MOTORS

LARGE INCREASE AT OLYMPIA EXHIBITION

London, Oct. 22. The International Motor Show at Olympia, London, which has been open nine days, ends to-night. The visitors numbered about the same total as last year, namely about 185,000, but the exhibitors agree that the business done shows a very considerable increase.

Sir Herbert Austin, head of the great Motor firm, speaking at the Production Engineer's Institute last night, said that "If conditions in the motor trade are any criterion they are so good that we are entirely surprised by the big sales being made. Our own particular sales on the home market are up to seventy or eighty per cent on last year and our export sales are nearly double."—British Wireless.

RAILWAY BUFFETS.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR RETURNING TROOPS

London, Oct. 22. Soldiers newly returned from abroad will in future find railway buffets to cater for their needs on the journey from their port of arrival to the barracks.

An arrangement has been made by the War Office with the railways, under which troops will present vouchers, the value of which will vary according to the length of the journey and the time of the day.

Meat pies will be of an average weight of 4 ounces, and sandwiches must contain at least an ounce of meat.—Reuter.

New York and is now playing in numerous large cities. Miss Chatterton's part as a woman whose heart is divided between her earthbound, "eternal collegian" husband and a man who uncovers hidden romantic spots of her life is said by preview critics to be her most dramatic role since entering pictures.

SICK MAN IN GENEVA

ITALY TO STAY AT BEDSIDE

INFLUENCE OF THE LEAGUE

Rome, Oct. 23.
The sensational stories circulated some few weeks back suggesting that Germany, Italy and Japan were all on the brink of tendering their resignations from the League of Nations were contradicted, as far as Italy is concerned, by Signor Mussolini to-day.

The Italian Prime Minister was addressing a crowd of one hundred and fifty thousand Fascists at a Turin celebration and he declared emphatically that Italy intends to remain in the League.

Mussolini expressed concern for the League. The League is so sick, he declared, that Italy must remain at the bedside!

EUROPEAN CO-OPERATION.

He expressed the opinion that while the League might wield some influence in Europe, it was powerless both in the Far East and in South America. For that reason, the four great Western Powers, Britain, Germany, France and Italy should co-operate.

Mussolini supported Germany's claim to parity in disarmament and urged the wiping out of war debts and reparations.

The Kowloon Fire Brigade was called out to an outbreak of fire in a match shed in Waterloo Road at about 6 p.m. yesterday. The match shed was occupied by workmen of the Man On building contractors, who were engaged in building a house near by. Despite all that could be done by the Fire Brigade, the match shed was totally destroyed. As a result of the fire, the bus service to Kowloon Tong was held up for some time.

BANISHEE ROBS PASSENGER

THROWS VALUABLES INTO HARBOUR

Charges of larceny from the person of a passenger from Canton by the sea, Chung Hing of a gold chain, with a silver watch and appendages attached, and of returning from banishment, were brought against a Chinese who appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Police Court this morning.

According to Detective Sergeant D. Fitches, the complainant was leaving the wharf when he had his valuables snatched by the defendant, who later handed them over to another man. When the complainant chased the men, the articles were thrown into the water. They were valued at $400 and were not recovered. The defendant when arrested was handed over to the police.

On the charge of theft, sentence of six months' hard labour was imposed, while a term of twelve months' imprisonment was passed on the banishment charge.

Passengers who arrived here by the President Hoover from Manila included Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Valentine, Capt. D. R. M. Cameron (A. D. C. to Major General Sandilands), Mr. C. W. Rosenstock, and Congressman B. E. Hare, Chairman of the House Insular Affairs Committee.

SHATIN AND NUDISTS

POLLUTING WATER NOT MORALS!

PETITION REPORT

The alleged pollution of the village fresh water source by swimmers of the nudist Society is now stated to be the chief reason for the complaints of the Shatin elders and villagers. They are drawing up a petition to Government seeking the prohibition of nudist activities.

If the authorities decline the request, the villagers of Tai Wei, Tin Sum and Tung Lo Wan villages in Shatin, all deriving their water supply from Look Peck Shuen, the nudist centre, will request the Government to open four wells for their use.

The villagers complain of the inconvenience caused since the advent of the nudists. On Sundays and public holidays the villagers have been compelled to draw their water before seven o'clock in the morning. The elders further allege that they can find no other source of water suitable for cooking purposes.

The organisers of the nudist movement have rented from a Chinese landowner a piece of ground comprising eight acres at it is reported, an annual rent of $45 for a period of fifteen years. The petitioners state that on public holidays as many as fifty to sixty men and women have participated in the nudist activities.

No fewer than 35 boatpeople were charged before the Hon. Comdr. Ho, at the Marine Court this morning, with having caused obstruction at the Yau Ma Tei Police Pier by mooring their boats there. They pleaded guilty, and were each fined $5 or five days' imprisonment. The steamer of four cargo boats were fined $10 or in default one week's imprisonment each for having left port during prohibited hours.

The quarantine restrictions imposed by the Philippine Islands against arrivals from Hongkong on account of cholera have been removed.
